ALLIES GAIN ANOTHER TWENTY MILES

ONLY ONE POINT IS SHOWING STRENGTH

Enemy Elsewhere Than East of Vitry-le-Francois in Very Bad Shape

CHECK TO RUSSIANS IS PROBABLY EXAGGERATED

Belgium and France Considering Re-occupation of Capitals by Government

London, Sept. 12.—News of a decisive character from east of Vitry-le-Francois, where the army of Saxony and parts of the armies commanded by the Prince of Wurtemburg and General von Buelow are fiercely striving to break through the French right and centre, is all that is needed now to make the allies' victory against the whole German line complete. The Germans are practically smashed at every other point and victory against the Saxony army will relieve the line of French frontier forts and the rear of General Castleman's sixth army corps engaged with a corresponding host of Germans before Nancy.

Berlin ignores General von Kluck's plight on the German right, while indicating that the German attack on Verdun is proceeding successfully.

Official thanks conveyed to the Bavarian sixth corps indicates that that army is merely expected to prevent the sending of allies reinforcements northward.

The situation along the Russian borders is becoming as obscure as are the western operations. Berlin reports that the victory of General von Hindenburg will clear East Prussia of Russians, but military experts at Petrograd declare that it is incredible that the Russians should give up the investment of Konigsberg unless suffering greater disaster than that which has been reported.

In Russian Poland, the Russians seem to be successful, while operating against the Austrians alone, but they are making less impression on the combined Austro-German armies on the Vistula. The stand being made in Vistula has caused several military experts at Petrograd to assert that German reinforcements from France are being sent to Galicia instead of to East Prussia, as was at first reported. This is done, according to the opinion of these experts, because Germany feared that an overwhelming disaster of the Austrian forces might lead the dual monarchy to conclude peace independently of Germany. Other expert observers in Petrograd are equally firm in the opinion that the German veterans from the fields of Belgium and France have been sent to East Prussia, where their presence is believed to account for the Russian check.

The most substantial gain by Russian forces within the last 24 hours has been the capture of Tomaszow, which probably clears the way for the advance of the Russian centre on the Austro-German forces on the Vistula river.

Both Belgium and France, it appears in London to-day, are optimistic enough to begin to consider reoccupying their capitals. Brussels is still in the hands of the Germans, but there are many signs that the forces of Emperor William are moving out of that section of the country. Ghent is reported to have been reoccupied by Belgian troops, following the departure of the Germans without waiting for the supplies promised by that city.

The story of a mysterious booming of guns in the North Sea has been revived. It is, however, given no credence, in so much as a recent sweeping of the North Sea by a British fleet did not disclose the presence of German warships.

EARTHQUAKE IN PERU DESTROYS CARAVELI

Panic Among 4,000 People in City Rebuilt Since One Year Ago.

Lima, Peru, Sept. 12.—News has reached here that a tremendous earthquake has destroyed the city of Caraveli, in the department of Arequipa. The report says the people are in a panic, but no mention is made of loss of lives.

Caraveli is a town of about 4,000 inhabitants, 130 miles northward of the port of Mollenda. Early in August a year ago the place was wrecked by an earthquake, but has since been rebuilt. The district in which Caraveli is located is subject to frequent earthquakes.

AUSTRIA DEFEATED BY BOTH OPPONENTS

Russia Gets 90,000 Prisoners; Servia Continues Aggressive Movements

London, Sept. 12.—A Central News dispatch from Rome says: "A telegram received here by the Messagero from Petrograd states that the second battle in Galicia resulted even more satisfactorily to the Russians than the first. The losses of the Austrians are estimated at 130,000, of whom 90,000 are prisoners."

In a dispatch from Petrograd the correspondent of the Reuter Telegram company announces that the troops of Servia are continuing their offensive operations against the Austrians with great success. German soldiers are at present in the Grodek district of the Austrian theatre of war. (Grodek is about 16 miles west of Lemberg.)

The operation of the Russian troops on the two wings in the rear of the western Austrian army, the correspondent continues, are favorable to the Russian army. Near Rawaruska (32 miles to the west of Lemberg) the turning movement against the Austrian flank is proceeding successfully.

Petrograd, Sept. 12.—Detailed plans of the proposed march of Austro-German armies through Russia to Perm, on the extreme east of the border of European Russia, and about 700 miles east of Petrograd were found on the body of a commander of the Austrian cavalry, kill at Grodek in Galicia.

In this fight three Cossack regiments completely overwhelmed nine Hungarian regiments of cavalry. Two of these Hungarian organizations were virtually wiped out, only thirty men surviving.

Rome, Sept. 12.—A telegram from Trieste to the Resto del Carlin of Bologna states that telegraph and telephone wires at Pola, in Styria, where 120,000 Austrians are said to be concentrated, have been cut. It is reported that bombs were thrown into the barracks, which were burned.

As a result of these disorders, the dispatch states, a considerable number of executions have taken place.

UNITED STATES WAITS TO SEE WHAT POWERS DO REGARDING TURKEY

Washington, Sept. 12.—The United States probably will join the protest of the powers against Turkey's abrogation of the capitulation which granted foreigners extra-territorial rights and otherwise restricted the sovereignty of the Ottoman empire. A definite course of action has not finally been decided upon by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. The disposition of the Washington government is to await the initiative of the European powers.

RESIDENCE RAIDED FOR SPIES CLOSE TO WINDSOR

German Taken Prisoner is Supposed to Be Person of Distinction.

London, Sept. 12.—A pretentious residence within sight of Windsor Castle was raided to-day by the police, who seized a quantity of German correspondence. The occupant of the house, a German, was arrested and now is held in a detention camp for German prisoners.

The prisoner, whose name is not made public, is said to have moved in the best circles of Windsor and to have entertained members of the royal family.

Eighty-six of them went to members of the 53rd Regiment and 110 to the 83rd Regiment, garrisoned at Cassel. Among the recipients are Count Helmuth von Moltke, chief of staff, and Major von Winterfeldt, former military attache to the German legation in Paris, and 21 other officers.

DROVE GERMANS BACK WITH BAYONET POINTS

Prisoners Taken to Paris Tell of Fierceness of Joffre's Attack

ARTILLERY ENGAGEMENT LASTED FOR TWO DAYS

Eight Hundred Thousand Were in Army That Intended to Assault Paris

Paris, Sept. 12.—Forty German prisoners, all wounded by bayonet thrusts, have arrived here and give a hint of how the Germans suffered in their retreat across the rivers Ourcq and Marne. It appears that the German force sent to that region to face the Paris army protecting the flank of the allies, was an important one and had been strongly entrenched.

When General Joffre ordered an attack, a fierce engagement of artillery opened and lasted two days without interruption. Aviator Captain Bellenger finally gave the exact location of the German batteries and soon thereafter they were annihilated by the French three-inch guns.

Then came the rout, according to participants. The Germans, pursued at the point of the bayonet, crossed the Ourcq in disorder, leaving cases of ammunition, cloaks, knapsacks and cartridges. The losses of the Germans were terrible, and this point of the valley of the Ourcq is still covered with their unburied dead. The French also suffered serious casualties, but mostly in wounded.

The admirable discipline of the censorship was revealed by yesterday's communications, which showed that the only ones outside of the military authorities who knew of the whereabouts of the French forces at the beginning of the great battle, were the Germans. The latter learned of it none too soon and their diversion from the route to Paris, heretofore attributed to fear of the Paris defence works, was a manoeuvre to escape a desperate situation. The Germans penetrated France in three columns, but the force consisted of five armies of at least 800,000 men. The plan evidently was for a quick, direct attack on Paris by General von Kluck, while the armies of General von Buelow, the Princes of Wurtemburg and Saxony and the crown prince dealt with the other armies of the allies.

The commander of the German right wing, surprised by the resistance of the allies at Guise and Compiegne, was rendered cautious and must have discovered the presence of the army of Paris on his flank. He made a counter movement against this protecting force. The critics give von Kluck full credit for skill, and, referring to General Joffre's plans, say it was a match between masters in the art of war.

It is generally thought that this looping of the loop adds immensely to the dangers of von Kluck's army. The wornout forces, doubling on their own tracks, necessarily must lose courage, as well as strength, and have to count not only with the extraordinary endurance of the allies, but with the constant danger from the flying column of the comparatively fresh army of Paris.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE WILL WELCOME TROOPS

Canadians Probably Will Reach England by October and Fight in Germany.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—The militia department has received a cable from Sir Trevor Dawson, secretary of a committee organized in Great Britain to receive the Canadian troops on arrival, that it has been arranged that Mr. Burbidge, a Londoner, connected with the Harrod's departmental stores, will look after banking arrangements for members of the Canadian overseas force on their arrival in England. This practically confirms the report that the Canadian force will land in England before proceeding to the scene of hostilities, and in view of recent developments in France and Belgium it is believed by Canadian military experts that the Canadians are likely to see their fighting first, not on French or Belgium, but on German soil. The probable date of departure of the Canadian force is being kept secret, but the expectation is that the first army division, the Princess Patricia and the automobile service corps now being organized at the capital, will be in England by October 1.

MILLION MEN IN FIELD NEXT SUMMER AND INCREASED NAVAL STRENGTH SAYS RT. HON. WINSTON SPENCER CHURCHILL

"The number of battle ships that will be completed within the next twelve months is more than double the number that will be completed for Germany, and the number of cruisers will be three or four times as great. . . . To make the assistance of the empire effective, we should put on the continent and keep there an army of at least one million. . . . By the new year we will have half a million men ready for service, and for the summer of 1915 we will have twenty-five army corps in fighting shape (1,000,000). It is our life against Germany's. . . . We must go forth unflinchingly to the end."—Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of British Admiralty speaking in London last night.

FAMINE FOLLOWS FLOODS IN CHINA FOR LONG PERIOD

Washington, Sept. 12. — Twelve months' famine, which only outside aid can avoid, faces the Kwang Tung and Kwang Si provinces of China which were devastated by floods on July 10 with a loss of 3,000 lives and more than 100,000 homes.

Consul-General Cheshire reports today from Canton that more than 8,000,000 people suffered losses and many millions would need food until the next harvest.

"In many places whole villages have been blotted out, inhabitants and all," says the report. "The loss of life may never be known, but the suffering caused is appalling. The West river, still at the end of July, is very high, the fields and lands are under several feet of water. Banks require rebuilding, houses re-erecting, fields to be pumped dry for planting. Taxes are remitted and other government aid is given, but even thus, the people have lost all, stand helpless.

"At the first we hoped the water might recede more rapidly and the fields be available for the second planting. This now appears not to be possible. In such event the people face a ten or twelve months famine.

"This is only the beginning. What the near future has in store, only God knows. Help is needed now. Delay cannot be long if these people are to be saved."

ARTILLERY OF FRENCH RUINS GERMAN BRIDGE

London, Sept. 12.—The correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company at Meaux sends the following story of the fighting in that vicinity: "The Anglo-French forces, which repulsed the Germans on the banks of the Marne, inflicted enormous losses in men and material. The Germans made incredible efforts to cross the Marne. The French, having destroyed all the bridges the Germans tried to construct three bridges of boats. Sixteen times the bridges were on the point of completion, but each time they were reduced to matchwood by the French artillery.

"The battlefield has been quickly cleared of dead and wounded and now only little mounds with tiny crosses, flowers and tri-colored flags recall the terrible struggle.

"The inhabitants of neighboring villages have already returned to their homes and resumed their ordinary occupations."

GERMAN BISMARCK ARCHIPELAGO IS TAKEN BY FLEET

London, Sept. 12.—The admiralty announced this afternoon that the British fleet has occupied Herbertshoehe, on Blanche Bay, the seat of government of the German Bismarck Archipelago and the Solomon Islands.

The Bismarck Archipelago, with an area of 18,000 square miles and a population of 200,000, is off the north coast of Australia and southeast of the Phillippine islands. The group was assigned to the German sphere of influence by an agreement with Great Britain in 1885. German New Guinea is included in the jurisdiction.

Melbourne, Sept. 12.—The British expeditionary force, which occupied Herbertshoehe plans to attack Simeonshaven to-morrow.

It was also stated this morning the German cruiser Nuernberg was reported sighted between San Francisco and the Santa Barbara channel.

DEMORALIZED ARMY OF GERMANY DRIVEN BACK SIXTY MILES

Retreat Is General and Enemy Offering Only Feeble Resistance to British and French Troops Who Cross the Ourcq in Pursuit

Six Thousand Prisoners Taken in One Engagement Where the Enemy Was Cut Off—Half-Starved Men Welcome Capture

Paris, Sept. 12.—It was officially announced here this afternoon that the German forces to the east of Paris are generally retreating and that they are offering only a feeble resistance to the French and British troops.

The official communication says: "On our left wing the Germans have begun a general retreating movement between the Oise and the Marne. Yesterday their front lay between Soissons, Braine and Fismes and the mountain of Reims. Their cavalry seems to have been exhausted. The Anglo-French forces, which pursued them, encountered on September 11, only feeble resistence.

"At the centre on our right wing the Germans have evacuated Vitry-le-Francois, where they had fortified themselves.

"They also have evacuated the valley of the Saulx river. Attacked at Sermaize and at Sevigny, they abandoned a large quantity of war material.

"The German forces which have been occupying Argonne region have begun to give way. They are retreating to the north through the forest of Bellenone.

"In Lorraine we have made slight progress. We occupy the eastern boundary of the forest of Champenoud, Resainvillers and Gorbenvillois.

"The Germans have evacuated Saint Die.

Allies Move in Rapid Pursuit.

"Our troops have crossed the river Ourcq and are moving this (Saturday) morning in rapid pursuit of the enemy," is an announcement given out to-day by the official press bureau. "Two hundred prisoners were captured. The allies were between Soissons and Fismes last night."

Soissons is about fifty miles northeast of Paris and Fismes is about fifteen miles to the east of Soissons.

Germans Deserting Their Artillery.

According to official announcement made to-day, the third French army has captured all the artillery of one German army corps.

"Our aeroplanes report that the enemy's retreat is very rapid.

"During the fighting fifty British cyclists from the cover of a small wood killed 150 of the enemy's cavalry.

"The allies' losses were severe, but they are as nothing in comparison to those of the enemy, now retreating north of the Marne and west of the Ourcq."

The artillery of a German army corps consists of two regiments of field pieces (eighteen batteries of field guns and six batteries of field howitzers, a total of seventy-two pieces), one or two batteries of heavy field artillery and a machine gun group.

Six Thousand Prisoners at One Point.

A dispatch to the Daily News from Paris says: "A motor car brings news from the front that the first and second divisions of the British army, with the French cavalry and artillery, cut off and defeated a large German force sixty miles northeast of Paris, taking 6,000 prisoners and fifteen guns. The Germans are reported as demoralized. The half-starved prisoners ravenously devoured beef and biscuits supplied by the British troops."

Belgians Again Becoming Active.

A dispatch to the Central News from Ansterdam says: "According to a Ghent dispatch to the Belgian government, having opposed the delivery of the army necessaries requisitioned by the Germans, a Belgian force has again occupied Ghent. The necessaries, which had already been prepared, were not delivered."

The Antwerp correspondent of the Daily Telegraph sends the following: "A courier brings news of fighting at Hofstads, near Malines. King Albert motored out and participated in the general engagement, which is apparently going well.

"The German artillery figured considerably, but the Belgian infantry, well supported by guns, gradually forced the Germans back."

LATE NIGHT WAR NEWS

BRITISH FORCE MOVES VON KLUCK ARMY BACK

Weary Cavalrymen Sleep in Dust; Artillery Collects Grim Toll of Germans

London, Sept. 12.—Reuter's Lagny, France, correspondent, in a dispatch sent on Thursday, says: "A trip along the valley of the Marne to-day brought evidence of the reality of the German retreat.

"On Sunday the British and Germans were at grips east of this place. Since then the Teuton has been driven steadily back beyond the Trilport and Crecy-en-Brie line, while the hardest fighting occurred beyond Meaux, where the Germans now are. In this movement of General von Kluck's army along the Marne valley, the British army has played a leading role.

"General French's army advanced to meet the German emperor's hosts with what must have been forced marches from their temporary base to the southeast of Paris. The whole British army, except the cavalry, passed through Lagny, and the incoming troops were so wearied that many of them at the first opportunity lay down in the dust and slept where they were.

"The British artillery did noble work in those days, according to the French military surgeons who were stationed at Lagny. At points near here the bodies of slain Germans who fell before the British gunners still litter the ground, and the grim crop must be still heavier on the soil further up the valley, where the fighting was more desperate.

"As far as possible the bodies are buried at night, each side attending to its own fallen.

"Sanguinary incidents were plentiful in the week of the fighting to the south of the Marne. In an engagement not far from here our men captured 30 Germans who had given up their arms and were standing under guard, when, encouraged by a sudden forward effort of the German front, they made a dash for their rifles. They were cut down by a volley from British guns before they could reach their weapons.

"Close to Meaux the Germans seem to have stayed their retreat last night, and even to have made a slight advance. It was apparently merely a rearguard covering movement.

"All along the valley the confidence of the people has been restored, and the people are returning to their abandoned homes.

"The British army no longer forms the left wing of the allies. On its left is a French army, one of several which are now in the field."

The Paris correspondent of the Daily Express learn from the front that in the attack on the Germans on Wednesday afternoon the British punished the Prussian guard in the severest possible manner. An entire Jaeger regiment of sharpshooters, numbering nearly 3,000, was wiped out.

"There is not the slightest doubt," says the correspondent, "that but for the superb handling of the right by General von Kluck, a large part of Emperor William's forces would have been captured. The allied cavalry did wonderful work, and three or four additional divisions of cavalry could have contributed toward the complete rout of the Germans."

Home Complexion Peeler Works Wonders

To keep the face, neck, arms and hands truly beautiful and youthful in appearance, the treatment which seems most sensible is one which will actually remove the skin itself immediately it begins to age, fade, coarsen or discolor. The only known treatment which will do this, aside from a painful, expensive surgical operation, is the application of ordinary mercolized wax, which is as harmless as it is effective.

The wax is put on at night, just as you apply cold cream, and washed off in the morning. It absorbs the dead and half-dead surface skin in almost invisible flaky particles, a little each day, no discomfort being experienced. With the disappearance of the old cuticle, the newer, healthier skin underneath gradually appears, richly beautiful with the flush of youth. This mercolized wax, which you can get at any drug store in original package, is indeed a veritable wonder-worker.

GEN. LEMAN WRITES TO KING OF BELGIUM

Was Nearly Killed in Explosion That Shattered Fort Loncin and Garrison

London, Sept. 12.—General Leman, Belgian commander, who gained fame for himself by his defence of the Liege forts, when he was made a prisoner, sent the following letter to King Albert of Belgium, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Central News:

"After the honorable engagement of August 4, 5 and 6, I considered that the Liege forts could only play the role of forts of arrete (probably arrest or stoppage).

"I maintained the military government in order to co-operate the defence as much as possible and to exercise a moral influence on the garrison.

"Your majesty is not ignorant that I was at Fort Loncin August 6 at noon. You will learn with grief that the fort was blown up, the greater part of the garrison being buried under the ruins. That I did not lose my life in that catastrophe is due to my escort, who drew me from a stronghold whilst I was being suffocated by gas from exploded powder.

"I was conveyed to a trench, where I fell. A German captain gave me a drink and I was made a prisoner and taken to Liege.

"I am certain that I have shown carelessness in this letter, but I am physically shattered by the explosion of Fort Loncin.

"In honor of our arms, I have surrendered neither the fortress nor the forts.

"I deign to ask your pardon, sire. In Germany, where I am proceeding, my thoughts will be as they always have been, of Belgium, and the king. I would willingly have given my life better to have served them but life was granted me."

FORM SIX DIVISIONS OF TROOPS IN BRITAIN

Prompt Response to Recruiting Enables Kitchener to Frame New Army.

London, Sept. 12.—The war press bureau stated recently that the prompt response to Lord Kitchener's appeal for volunteers had enabled him to decide on and define the framework to be employed, and to make all necessary arrangements for the infantry training.

Six divisions were to be formed, in the designation and employment of which territorial interests had been remembered. The divisions would be known as the Scottish, Irish, Northern, Western, Eastern and Light Infantry.

The divisions would consist of three brigades, the names of whose battalions were well known in the history of the army. Composing, for instance, the first brigade of the Scottish division would be the Black Watch, the Seaforth Highlanders, the Gordon Highlanders, and the Cameron Highlanders.

Shorncliffe was a convenient centre for the eastern division, and the facilities which it afforded were held to compensate for any increase in the distance from Norfolk and Suffolk homes.

The western division would assemble on Salisbury plain, the convenience of which for the purpose of training was well known.

The Curragh was the natural station of the Irish contingent, which would consist, throughout its ranks, of Irishmen.

The station of the northern division had not been decided upon. A suitable training ground would shortly be selected.

The name "Light Division" might recall, it was said, Wellington's advance in the Peninsula, when Craufurd's Light Brigade of 1809 developed into the Light Division of 1810. The defence made by the Light Division of the day for five months on a long front against an enemy of six times its own strength was well known in military history. The King's Royal Rifles and the Rifle Brigade compose the first brigade of the new Light Division.

DELCASSE'S SON SHOT PRINCE OF HESSE HURT

London, Sept. 12.—A dispatch from Amsterdam, says the Cologne Gazette, declares that the son of the French foreign minister, M. Delcasse, has been wounded and is in a hospital at Diedenhofen, near Metz.

Prince Frederick of Hesse, eldest son of Prince Frederick Charles of Hesse and Princess Margaret, sister of the German empress, previously reported wounded, was shot in the breast, according to this statement.

Capt. Armstrong, formerly private secretary to Prince William of Wied, until recently ruler of Albania, who was taken prisoner at Munich, has been released on parole.

GERMAN AUTOS SHORT OF GASOLINE, SOON USELESS

London, Sept. 12.—A dispatch from Bordeaux to Reuter's Telegram company says that the Temps repeats the report that the stock of gasoline in Germany is becoming exhausted and adds that as the German army depends largely on its motor transport of supplies of all sorts, this greatly aggravates the situation.

BERLIN PLAYWRIGHT WRITES OF HORRORS

Shooting of Belgian Before Eyes of Relatives in Cold Blood, Related

(Correspondence to the Associated Press.)

London, Sept. 2.—One of the most vivid accounts of an episode of the war comes from the Lokal Anzeiger of August 24. It is a letter from Paul Oskar Hoscker, a Berlin playwright, now serving as captain of the reserve. His play, "A Nation in Arms," is being given at the Berlin opera house. He described a mission on which he was dispatched to search for arms in Belgium villages in which shots had been fired by civilians on German troops. His instructions were to summon the villagers to deliver their arms and those in whose possession arms were found, after they declared that they had none, were to be instantly shot.

Describing a visit to Jungbursch, he says that in one house were found an old man, a woman and a girl of 13.

"Then a terrible thing happened. A sergeant and a private dragged a young fellow out of the house. They found him hiding among the straw in the loft. He had in his hands a Belgian rifle loaded with five cartridges. From the opening in the roof he may have aimed at many an honest German. The youth had to put up his hands. Stammering and deadly pale he stood.

"'Who is this youth?' I asked the old man. As if struck by lightning all three fell on their knees waiting. The woman groaned: 'He is my son. For God's sake, you are not going to kill him?' and the little girl sobbed as if her heart would break. The prisoner tried to escape, but was put up against the wall by the men.

"I had to picture to myself by force the German patrols riding through the night with the bullets of treacherous snipers whistling around their helmets and think of the tall figures and bright eyes of our good German fellows in order to master my nerves to face off this sorrow and fulfill my orders.

"'He has to be shot. Three men, ready.'

"The three men commissioned, who were fathers themselves, two from Berlin and one a farmer, did not turn a hair. This is just business. We had got a ruffian who merited no compassion. The volley rang out. The trembling body collapsed to the ground and did not move again. Three holes were visible in the blue blouse. The boy's eyes are closed. His face has not changed its expression. Death by our rifle is painless.

"'We ought to burn the old man's house over his head,' said one of my men.

"'Quick march,' I ordered.

"The three peasants are still kneeling on the ground. The corpse still lies up against the wall."

WOMEN FOUGHT IN TRENCHES WITH FRENCH

Paris, Sept. 12.—10.45 a. m.—Among the wounded brought to Noisy de Sec, a town in the department of the Seine and near Ourcq canal, was a young laundress in a soldier's uniform. She had followed a company of Zouaves and had fought alongside of them in the trenches. Her identity was discovered when she was wounded.

Before sending her to the rear the commanding officer complimented her on her bravery.

At the beginning of the war he purchased 700,000 bushels. This has been shipped. On Thursday, from the Grain Growers Grain company, he purchased 500,000 bushels, which will be mostly from this year's crop and will be all from the west.

SCHEDULE "A."

THIS AGREEMENT made in duplicate this first day of September, in the year of Our Lord, One thousand nine hundred and fourteen:

BETWEEN

CHARLES H. RUST, Water Commissioner for the City of Victoria, representing herein the Corporation of the City of Victoria, hereinafter called "the Water Commissioner," of the First Part,

THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF VICTORIA which has become a party hereto for the purpose of indicating the approval and consent of the Municipal Council of the said Corporation to this Agreement and all the provisions thereof, hereinafter called "the City," of the Second Part,

and

THE CORPORATION OF THE DISTRICT OF SAANICH, hereinafter called "the District," of the Third Part.

WHEREAS the Water Commissioner with the consent and approval of the said Municipal Council is constructing works for the conserving and storing of the waters of Sooke Lake for general domestic, sanitary and fire protection purposes, and conveying the same by means of pipes, and conduits to the City of Victoria and there connecting the same to the present system of mains and reservoirs, and the capacity of the said works is estimated as sufficient to deliver approximately sixteen million Imperial gallons per day of twenty-four hours.

AND WHEREAS it is desirable after completion of the works as aforesaid, that the City should supply water from the said works to the District for the use of its inhabitants.

NOW THIS AGREEMENT WITNESSETH that it is hereby mutually agreed between the City and the District in manner following, namely:—

1. The Water Commissioner shall and will for the period of ten years, hereinafter called "the Delivery period," sell and supply to the District, and the District shall and will purchase and take all water required by the District for the supply of its ratepayers and inhabitants for general domestic, sanitary, irrigation and fire protection purposes, not however to exceed five million gallons per day, at the following rates and prices, viz:—

For all water supplied during each 24 hours;
First 1,000,000 gallons, 6 cents per 1,000 gallons;
Any overplus over 1,000,000 gallons up to 2,000,000 gallons, 5 cents per 1,000 gallons on such overplus;
Any overplus over 2,000,000 gallons, 4 cents per 1,000 gallons on such overplus.

The delivery period shall commence to run so soon as in the judgment of the Water Commissioner water is being adequately delivered by means of the said works so to be constructed as aforesaid, into the present system of mains and reservoirs of the City.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the District from sinking or purchasing artesian or other wells within the District and selling and supplying water therefrom to the inhabitants and ratepayers of the District.

2. The District shall and will at its own expense prior to the commencement of the delivery period lay and instal all necessary pipes within the limits of the District required for the purpose of taking delivery of water from the water mains of the City and make all necessary connections within the District at such points and in such manner as the Water Commissioner shall designate, and so that the District shall be ready to take delivery of water required hereunder at the commencement of the delivery period.

3. The District shall and will before the commencement of the delivery period instal within the District good and sufficient meters and valves, subject in all respects as to location, style, design and workmanship or otherwise howsoever, to the approval of the Water Commissioner for the purpose of measuring and controlling all water to be supplied to the District by the Water Commissioner, and the District shall and will during the delivery period keep and maintain the same in good order and condition and subject to the approval of the Water Commissioner, and reasonable notification to him of any closing of the valves or any of them, and will cause to be taken daily readings of each such meter and give the employees of the City all reasonable access and opportunity of being present at the readings of said meters and of verifying the correctness thereof.

4. The District shall not later than the second day of the second calendar month of the delivery period and thereafter not later than the second day of each calendar month deliver to the Water Commissioner a correct statement taken from the meter readings showing the water each day supplied hereunder during the previous calendar month, and the District shall pay the Water Commissioner for the water delivered hereunder in each month, at the rates and prices hereinbefore set out on or before the 15th day of the succeeding calendar month, provided however that if such day be Sunday or a holiday then on or before the next business day thereafter.

5. The District shall charge to consumers for water supplied hereunder rates which shall not be less than the respective rates for the time being charged by the City to consumers within the City's limits; provided however that the provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to water supplied by the District for use for irrigation purposes.

6. In the event of any breakdown, accident or injury to the City's water system which causes a temporary cessation in whole or in part of the delivery of water hereunder by the City to the District, neither the Water Commissioner nor the City shall be under obligation during such temporary cessation to supply water to the District or any consumer of water within the limits of the District, but the Water Commissioner and the City shall exercise all diligence in making all necessary repairs.

7. Subject to the provisions of Clause 6 should the City cease to use the water from Sooke Lake for domestic purposes or should the Water Commissioner refuse or neglect to supply to the District all the water required from time to time up to the maximum amount provided herein, the District at its option may cancel this agreement.

8. The City hereby consents and approves of this agreement and the terms hereof and authorises and empowers the Water Commissioner to enter into the same and to perform and carry out all the provisions thereof.

MILLION BRITONS IN FIELD NEXT SUMMER

Churchill Tells of British Strength on Sea and for Land Fighting

London, Sept. 12.—Under the auspices of the National Liberal and Constitutional clubs, two great political organizations of the Metropolis, an enthusiastic meeting was held last night in support of the prime minister's call for recruits. The chief speakers were: Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty; F. E. Smith, director of the official press bureau, and Will Crooks, Labor leader in the house of commons.

"It is too soon to speculate upon the result of the great battle which is now being waged in France," said Mr. Churchill, "but everything we have heard during four long days of anxiety seems to point to a marked and substantial turning of the tide.

"In a battle taking place on a front of over 100 or 150 miles one must be very careful not to build too high hopes. But when every allowance has been made, the situation is better—far better—than calculations could lead us to expect in this early stage of the campaign. But had this battle been as disastrous as, thank God, it appears to be triumphant, I should have come before you with unabated confidence that we have only to continue our efforts to bring this war to the conclusion which we intend.

"The war has now been in progress five or six weeks. In that time we have swept German commerce from the seas. All our ships, with inconsiderable exceptions, are arriving safely and punctually at their destinations and carrying the commerce upon which the wealth and industries and power to make war of this country depend. We have transported safely and successfully great numbers of soldiers across the seas from all quarters of the world. We have swept the so-called German ocean without discovering a German flag.

"The number of battleships that will be completed within the next twelve months is more than double the number that will be completed for Germany, and the number of cruisers will be three or four times as great. Therefore we may count upon the naval supremacy of the country being effectively maintained.

"What we now have to do is to make, under shield of the navy, a great army, strong enough to enable the country to take its proper share in the decision of this terrible struggle. To make the assistance of the Empire effective, we should put on the continent and keep there an army of at least one million.

"That figure is well within the compass of arrangements which Lord Kitchener has made. By the new year we will have half a million men ready for the field, and for the summer of 1915 we will have twenty-five army corps in fighting shape.

"It is our life against Germany's. Upon that there must be no compromise or truce. We must go forth unflinchingly to the end."

AUDACIOUS MOVEMENT CAUSED SEMLIN'S FALL

Austrians Bombarding Belgrade Surprised by Men Who Crossed Rivers at Night.

Rome, Sept. 12.—The capture of Semlin by the Servians had been long prepared for, and the operations were conducted with great ability, according to dispatch received by the Servian minister.

"Several Servian divisions," the dispatch says, "camped in the hills extending from Topchider to Resnik, occupying all the heights about Mount Avala. The Austrian garrison in Semlin did not suspect the presence of Servians, and continued the bombardment of Belgrade daily without causing great damage.

"The audacity of the Servian movement was extraordinary, as in order to reach Semlin the Servians were compelled to cross the Save and Danube rivers on bridges built during the night. They also took heavy artillery with them."

London, Sept. 12.—Reuter's Rome correspondent sends the following message, received in Rome from Nish:

"The taking of Semlin has caused great enthusiasm in Servia. The people are proud of their army. After seven weeks of war not only has it prevented a powerful enemy capturing Belgrade, but has inflicted humiliation upon them by forcing them to evacuate their base of operations against Servia. The victory has had a most wonderful moral effect upon the army and people."

A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company from Cettinje, dated Sept. 7, says the Servians the day before occupied Mitrovitz, in Croatia-Slavonia, on the River Save.

GUNNERS SENT LOVE TO KAISER ON PROJECTILES

London, Sept. 12.—"The projectiles which we sent into the German ships in the Heligoland battle were covered with chalked messages such as 'Love to the kaiser' and 'Regards from England,'" writes George Brown, gunner, in a letter received in London to-day with mail from the fleet.

AMBASSADORS PROTEST ACTION FROM TURKEY

By-law No. 93.

A BY-LAW

To Raise the Sum of $50,000 for School Purposes.

WHEREAS the School Board of the Corporation of the District of Saanich submitted to the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the District of Saanich an extraordinary estimate in the amount of Fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00) for school purposes, and the Municipal Council of the said Corporation disapproved of the estimated expenditure.

AND WHEREAS thereafter the Secretary of the said Board of School Trustees in writing on behalf of the said School Board requested that a By-Law be submitted for the assent of the Municipal Electors of the said Corporation providing for the raising of the said sum of Fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00) upon the credit of the said Municipality.

AND WHEREAS this By-Law has been presented pursuant to the said request.

AND WHEREAS the whole rateable land or improvements or real property of the Municipality of the District of Saanich according to the last revised Assessment Roll of the Municipality, namely the Roll of the year 1914, is Twenty million, One hundred and nine thousand, One hundred and thirty-five dollars ($20,109,135.00).

AND WHEREAS the total amount required to be raised annually by rate for paying the debt intended to be created hereunder and the interest thereon is the sum of Four thousand, Six hundred and ten dollars and eighty-five cents ($4,610.85).

AND WHEREAS this By-Law shall not be altered or repealed without the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED by the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the District of Saanich as follows:—

1. It shall be lawful for the Reeve of the Corporation of the District of Saanich to borrow upon the credit of the Corporation by way of the debentures hereinafter mentioned from any person or persons, or body or bodies corporate, who may be willing to advance the same as a loan, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of Fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00), either in currency or sterling money, at the rate of Four dollars and eighty-six and two-thirds cents ($4.86 2-3) to the one pound sterling, and to cause all such sums so raised or received to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said Corporation for the purpose and with the object hereinbefore recited.

2. It shall be lawful for the said Reeve to cause any number of debentures to be made, executed and issued for such sums as may be required, not exceeding, however, the sum of Fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00) each of the said debentures being of the amount of not less than One hundred dollars ($100.00) currency, or its sterling equivalent at the rate aforesaid, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the Seal of the Corporation and signed by the Reeve thereof. It shall be lawful for the said Reeve in his discretion to alternately cause each of the said debentures to be made, executed and issued for an amount of £100 sterling, and one, if necessary, for a less sum in sterling money to complete the authorized issue.

3. The said debentures shall bear date the 15th day of October, One thousand, nine hundred and fourteen, and shall be made payable twenty (20) years from the said date, at such place either in the Dominion of Canada, Great Britain or the United States of America, as may be designated thereon, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest and the signature to the interest coupons may be either written, stamped, printed, lithographed or engraved.

4. The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of Five and one-half per centum (5½ per cent.) per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half yearly on the 15th day of April and the 15th day of October, at such place either in the Dominion of Canada, Great Britain or the United States of America, as may be expressed in the debentures or coupons.

5. It shall be lawful for the Reeve of the said Corporation to dispose of the said debentures at a rate below par, and to authorize the Treasurer to pay out of the sum so raised by the sale of the said debentures all expenses connected with the preparation and engraving or lithographing of the said debentures and coupons, or any discount or commission or other charges incidental to the sale of the said debentures.

6. For the purpose of the payment of the interest on the said debentures during their currency there shall be raised annually the sum of Two thousand, Seven hundred and fifty dollars ($2,750.00) and for the purpose of creating a sinking fund for the payment off of the debt at maturity there shall be raised annually the sum of One thousand, eight hundred and sixty dollars and eighty-five cents ($1,860.85).

7. The said sums of Two thousand, seven hundred and fifty dollars ($2,750.00) and One thousand, eight hundred and sixty dollars and eighty-five cents ($1,860.85) making in the aggregate Four thousand, six hundred and ten dollars and eighty-five cents ($4,610.85) shall be raised and levied in each year by a rate sufficient therefor on all the rateable land in the Municipality of the District of Saanich.

8. This By-Law shall, before the final passing thereof, receive the assent of the electors of the said Corporation in the manner provided for in the Municipal Act, and shall take effect on the 30th day of September, 1914.

THE WAR.

Official reports from London and Bordeaux report continued successes by the allies, especially against the German right wing. It now seems evident that the army corps composing this portion of the invading army only escaped capture through the skill and resourcefulness of General von Klock. In their headlong deviation from the north to the southeast of Paris they took no note of another French army General Joffre had quietly stationed at hand, which immediately threatened their flank and rear. The Germans succeeded in resisting the enveloping movement and extricating themselves from a trap as deadly as any their own general staff had laid for the allies' troops.

Just how far the British army which crossed the Marne east of Paris a few days ago has gone in its offensive operations it is impossible to say from the dispatches, but one report places the cavalry between Soissons and another point the name of which was deleted from the dispatch. It is plain, however, that if the allied forces have penetrated to Soissons they are menacing the German lines of communication. And it is also plain that if the armies of von Klock, von Buelow and the Prince of Wurtemburg had been able to withstand the attack on the German right wing, the British cavalry would be nowhere in the vicinity of Soissons. This deduction is interesting because of the dubious nature of the summary which comes to this continent from London stating that some military experts allege that there is no evidence that the allies have fought the Germans to a standstill. When an army is fought to a standstill it means that its offensive progress has been stopped. If the British have forced the Germans back across the Marne fifty miles; if the sixth French army on the Ourcq, northeast of Paris, is pressing forward; if the artillery of an entire army corps has been captured by the third French army, and if the German centre is retiring, we safely may conclude that the invaders have been fought to more than a standstill. The curious thing about those daily summaries is that when the allies retired from Mons they were reported to have suffered a serious reverse, and every other retirement was similarly described. Now that the Germans are driven back we are gravely informed that it has no important bearing upon the fortunes of the battle.

The Austrians continue their strenuous resistance in Russian Poland and Galicia, with their bases at Grodek, Przemysl and Cracow, west of Lemberg. Nevertheless there is every evidence to support the belief that a large part of the main Austrian army is either surrounded or by this time ruinously beaten, because its way of retreat was cut off by the Russian left wing, which had taken Lemberg The advance of the main Russian army upon Berlin is yet some days, possibly weeks, distant. It must first finally dispose of the Austrian obstacle by capturing or effectually masking the three strongholds in western Galicia, and also stop the progress of the reinforcements Germany has thrown into East Prussia. Otherwise the army invading Germany would be in danger of an enveloping attack on each flank.

The Servians have put an end to the bombardment of their capital which had been in progress ever since the war started. They have captured Semlin, the Austrian town across the Save, which was the headquarters of the central army of invasion. So far Austria has drawn nothing but blanks from the prize package. Although she declared war upon Servia and invaded Servian territory with three armies, today there is not an Austrian soldier in Servia, while on the other hand Servian soldiers have invaded Austrian territory in several places. In the north one Austrian army has been destroyed, another is being broken up at the present time, and the third is in full retreat.

Holland and Italy are reported to be getting restless. They are afraid that when the readjustment comes after the war they will be left out of the picture. A few more German reverses very likely will see both abandon their neutral attitude and give the Hohenzollern tobaggan a shove. Turkey will not make the plunge. The agreement just signed by Roumania, Greece and Bulgaria to take a hand if the Porte sides with Germany will have a sobering effect at Constantinople.

RACIAL UNITIES.

The probable outstanding result of this war will be the restoration of racial unities and incidentally an illustration of the futility of those earlier struggles which dismembered them. Poland, partitioned between Russia, Germany and Austria, again will come into its own by the surrender of Galicia in the dual monarchy and the district of Posen, now a part of Prussia. While Russian hegemony will continue over this portion of Europe, the Czar has sworn to grant full antonomy to the re-established state, and pressure will be exercised by Great Britain and France towards the fulfilment of that pledge. Thus will be realized, in substantial part at any rate, the dream of Polish patriots.

Denmark may regain a considerable portion of Schleswig-Holstein, wrenched from her by Prussia in 1864. This would carry with it the Kiel canal, from which Germany has spent many millions, and for which no doubt she would be compensated. France will have back Alsace and Lorraine. One authority suggests that these provinces be given their independence, but this would be unfair to France. Moreover, no matter how strong may be the aspirations of the Alsatians to a status such as Switzerland enjoys, they would much prefer the free, democratic government of France to the grinding tyranny of Prussian militarism.

Luxemburg may revert to Belgium, but this would be determined by the people of the grand duchy themselves. Were they to be forced under Belgian rule against their wish they would be a source of constant friction which might bring the continent to the verge of another outbreak. Certainly they will demand to be safeguarded in the future against anything like the ruthless attitude of Berlin, which hurled it soldiers into the defenceless state with the arrogant reminder that might was right and they would do as they pleased.

The Slav states in the Balkans will regain the territory filched from them by Austria. Bosnia and Herzegovina already are lost to the Hapsburg crown. To complete the picture, Italy should regain Italia irredenta, the last rampart of Austria's haughty domination over the peninsular power of a century ago. All this readjustment of the map of Europe will be not only a logical sequel of what is now transpiring, but it will be a necessity if prolonged peace is to follow the present conflagration. It is the so-called conquests of the past which fathered the issue of balance of power, creating racial animosities which have smouldered for centuries. Had Germany not torn Alsace and Lorraine from France there would have been no Franco-Russian alliance. No nation can dismember another by force without some day paying for it in violence.

Germany thus will lose territory she took from weaker nations. But she will gain as much, if not more, because if her racial unity is to be restored, and it is highly desirable that it should be, the empire composed of Austria and Hungary will cease to exist. There can be no adequate readjustment of the map of Europe reconcilable with such a hodge-podge as the dual monarchy. A considerable portion of Austria almost certainly will be united with Germany and Hungary will become an independent nation, a realization of the dream of the heroic Kossuth.

But whatever consolidation of the Germanic states of Europe may follow this war, one thing is certain. Prussia's hegemony will have passed away, crushed to the very ground. The allies are determined to eradicate from the German system the poison that has been inoculated into it from the Potsdam laboratory for fifty years. The people of Germany will learn how ruinous and absolutely futile is the policy they have been duped into supporting. For the cruelites perpetrated by their soldiers in Belgium and France they will pay to the limit of human capacity. Every village given to the flames will have to be restored; every family deprived of its support will have to be maintained out of the taxes of the German people; every masterpiece of art destroyed will have to be either replaced from Germany's collection or paid for, and the German people must bear the cost of the war to the three allied nations. This is how Prussianism is going to recoil upon the empire which has so complacently followed every direction of a party historically obsessed with a homicidal mania. When they have awakened to a realization of their predicament, we think the German people themselves will take the Hohenzollern crowd by the throat and hurl them into outer darkness

SOMEWHAT PREVIOUS.

While the German authorities, with that assurance which has made them blind to their own predicament, are informing the world that Belgium is a part of Germany the Belgians metaphorically are applying the toe to the German soldiers in their country and have already propelled them a considerable distance. They have recaptured Aerschot and Termonde and have occupied Ghent. More than this, they are clinging to the rear of the German army corps which is marching south to save von Klock's distressed right wing from annihilation. German bureaucracy is altogether too previous. Within a month there will be more Belgians in Rhenish Prussia than there are Germans in Belgium.

Beck's Weekly has an amusing skit on the assumption of the Germans that all is over but the shouting and publishes an alleged dispatch stating how the Kaiser's board of special geographers have just completed their study of the map of Canada and on their report the Kaiser has ordered the names of a number of important cities and towns to be changed. Says the account:

Montreal is to disappear absolutely from the map, the German geographers declaring the name not sufficiently characteristic. By the Kaiser's edict it will henceforth be known as Graftenezemoneburg.

A partial list of other renamed places follow:

Hamilton, Ont., to be renamed Dedz.

Sorel to be known at Auffeloder.

Ottawa to be known as Helwhatagabfest.

Quebec City to be known as Prettedambad.

Berlin, Ont., to be known as Bustakaiserbust.

Toronto to be known as Swilpilsneronslei.

Nauwigewauk, N. B., to be known merely as Nauwigewauk, N. B.

Pugwash, N. S., to be known as Hundmiteinemstumpfennaseabwaschen.

Brockville, Ont., Georgepiegrahamskier.

St. Hyacinthe, Que., Kaiserhyacinthe.

St. Anne, Que., Kaiserjovite.

Halifax, Niobeslande.

Griffin's Corners, Ont., Wienerwurstburg.

Other changes will be announced later.

TO-DAY'S SUMMARY.

The French war office announced at 3 o'clock this afternoon (Paris time) that the Germans in France were retreating generally and offering only a feeble resistance.

A British official announcement says that British troops have crossed the river Ourcq and this (Saturday) morning are pursuing the German right wing, whose retreat is rapid. It is declared that the third French army had captured all the artillery of one German army corps.

Up to early afternoon no statement had been issued by the German war office. The latest official German report said their forces had captured a fortress southwest of Verdun, and news dispatches indicated a purpose on the part of the German general staff to surround and cut off from the line of the allies the strongly fortified city of Verdun.

News dispatches indicate fresh and stubborn fighting in Galicia, and this has given rise to the speculation that the German corps brought from the west may have been thrown into Austria to support the Austrians instead of proceeding to East Prussia to reinforce the Germans already there.

The situation in East Prussia is in doubt, but there is nothing to indicate that the Russians have made any notable advance west since their reverse at Allenstein. They were last reported attacking Koenigsberg, while the German troops were said to be moving toward that stronghold.

Advices received by the French embassy at Washington tell of the retirement of the German centre east of Paris, but these obviously refer to fighting of yesterday or earlier, the details of which are made known in official dispatches from Paris last night.

A dispatch from Rome says that Pope Benedict XV. has charged foreign cardinals to urge their governments to cease hostilities and convoke a peace conference.

A news dispatch from Petrograd says that the Servians e continuing successfully their offensive operations against Austria.

In printing the poetic warning to the German Kaiser, "Dies Irae," we neglected to state that the verses were copied from Punch and that they were from the pen of the gifted editor, Sir Owen Seaman.

+ + +

Notwithstanding the somewhat pessimistic summaries furnished by the Associated Press, the Germans seem to be in as big a hurry to get away from Paris as they were to reach it. Blows from "the British triphammer" are helping the movement along.

The Times is indebted to the courtesy of Mr. F. H. Mayhew, of London, England, for a set of excellent maps of Europe and of the sections of the country in which the allied armies are engaging the combined forces of Germany and Austria

SPEND FREELY.

To the Editor,—There are obvious facts to face, a little consideration of which should warn us against the snare of giving with one hand and taking away with the other.

Being in touch both with heads of firms and also with employees, I find the following situation: Employees, both men and women, are alarmed that the populace are curtailing their ordinary expenditures in order to give to the various funds and charities now appealing, resulting in depressed business and the dismissal of many wage-earners who in consequence become dependent on those charities which are cheerfully forthcoming from those who could have alleviated the conditions which made them necessary.

This is not the time for enconomizing. The housewife who dismisses her help, curtails her entertainments, etc., in order to give to the poor, is creating an unemployed problem and an ever increasing deadlock in business. Better had she employ more maids than dismiss those she has. There are some people who feel that just now it would not be nice to entertain. Why not? The British empire is united in an honorable war, and again has added golden deeds to her scrole of fame. Why should we not be glad, and remember how good Sir Francis Drake played bowls while the Spanish Armada hove in sight?

I should like to suggest that the many hospitable ladies of Victoria who are in the habit of giving bridge parties and afternoon crushes should inaugurate a round of patriotic teas, soirees, etc., so that things can keep going as usual while being mete to the times. Dances for the coming season could easily be made military, nautical, etc., with interest and profit to all. To spend freely what we have is the only way to solve the unemployment problem.

There are merchants in Victoria today who are keeping on help solely because dismissal would mean destitution for them and their families. This is the most practical charity of all, as these merchants have outstanding accounts against clients who are too lazy to take the trouble to pay up. There are ladies in Victoria to-day busily engaged in forming sewing circles to make garments for the needy, while they themselves are not bothering about the fact that they owe their dressmaker a considerable sum of money, non-payment of which will lead to the dismissal of the girls employed at the establishment.

Spend freely, pay cash, and the ball will soon start rolling again.

PRO PATRIA.

Sept. 11, 114.

READY! AYE READY!

War's flaming torch burns bright to-day,
Lit by a furious despot's hand;
Plowshares and sickles now become
Sword-blades and spears in many a land.
Shall Freedom perish from the Earth?
Shall Liberty be but a name?
Shall human rights and human laws
Perish at last in battle's flame?
No! Stirred by Britain's lion wrath,
Her sons, around the world arrayed,
With armored fleets and gallant hosts,
Now face the foe, hearts undismayed.
No blanching fear, no thought of flight;
Their cause is that of human weal.
They boldly meet the foeman's hosts,
They boldly face his serried steel.
Britain, thy sons have never failed,
When Homeland's call rang through the land,
To fling aloft the Union Jack,
To face unawed the foeman's band.
Thy heroes who in times gone by
Bade the sun rise for Freedom's day—
The hosts that fought at Waterloo,
The sea kings of Trafalgar Bay.
Their blood still throbs in British veins,
Nerves British hearts for battle's fray.
Britannia shall not call unheard;
Not, not in vain shall be her trust,
Her queenly head she shall not bow.
Her banner shall not trail the dust,
Forgotten private quarrel and feud;
The Empire hears her trumpet call,
Her eager sons leave loom and plough,
For Britain's cause to stand or fall.
Britons! To arms! Rings through the land,
With beat of drum and sound of fife.
Shoulder to shoulder, hearts as one,
They fight to save their nation's life.
Ready, the warship's frowning guns;
Ready, the lines of bristling steel;
Ready, her sons stand as of yore;
Ready, to die for Britain's weal.

Supplying Flags.—The rations committee of the I. O. D. E. has undertaken a further work. By special request of the officers of the Fifth regiment 100 signaling flags for use by the Macaulay Point and Rod Hill camps are being made, and will be delivered early next week. In its regular capacity the committee is busy distributing the gifts of fruit and jam which are sent by friends for the various camps. A very welcome consignment of both these articles was sent during the week by the Duncan Women's Institute, the women of Shawnigan Lake sending a shipment of vegetables. Further contributions to the emergency fund during the past day or so include one of $5 from Mr. Gidley; Mrs. F. C. Stratford, $2. Five dollars has been subscribed by one gentleman for the purchase of wool, which is much in demand for the various knitted articles which are being prepared for the soldiers. The Patriotic Service committee is busy registering the names of new recruits, and yesterday a list of these was received from the 50th regiment. The committee will meet on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock to discuss the work of its department still further and to receive the reports of the visitors for the past week.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

A heavy shipment of sealskins was made yesterday via the C. P. R. to London by E. B. Marvin and Co., and Carne and Munsie. The total number of skins was 4,750, and they were packed in 80 large casks. Their value, laid down in London, will be about $36,000.

Thomas Hooper, architect, came over from Vancouver last evening at the request of members of the Methodist church, which congregation has in contemplation a $50,000 building. He has been asked to go east and examine the best churches and to supervise construction.

FINE FAIR PROMISED

Cowichan Fair Next Week Will Prove Attractive Event; in New Hall This Year.

The three-day exhibition at Duncan next week under the auspices of the Cowichan Agricultural society will be the principal agricultural fair on Vancouver island this year, owing to the cancelling of the Dominion exhibition here.

All the arrangements have been completed. The new agricultural building will house the trade exhibit, to which merchants in the district will contribute, the fruit, vegetable, domestic science and other exhibits. The district exhibit which was to have come to the Dominion exhibition here in competition with other parts of British Columbia, will be shown at the fair.

Greater accommodation has been provided for the stock and poultry exhibits through the alteration, renovation and enlargement of the old buildings. The new cattle sheds, which are in the old building, will accommodate 100 head as against 50 of last year. Increased and improved accommodation has also been provided for the poultry exhibits which heretofore have been housed in an outbuilding.

The increase in entries this year shows the growing importance of the exhibition. In case of rain there will be little inconvenience as exhibits will be under cover.

The chief entertainment feature of this year's show will be a sporting meet which will be held on the grounds on Saturday afternoon. All the leading athletic associations of Vancouver island have been invited to participate in this and it is expected that there will be a full entry in the many competitions arranged. The feature of the programme, as in past years, will be a wood-chopping contest for which valuable prizes are offered. There are also tug-of-war matches for both men and women and other interesting events.

S. Eden, when, on behalf of the trustees and chair of the church, he was presented by Messrs. Mitchell and Shakespeare with a traveling bag. On Thursday evening, just before he embarked at the C. P. R. wharf for Vancouver, A. E. Syer, the league president, presented him with a Bible and Hymn book on behalf of the league.

How They Sell Hellos in New York

The New York Telephone company is a large and aggressive newspaper advertiser.

It advertises its service; it preaches courtesy; it shows new ways of using the telephone.

Now it has taken another step and linked the store windows of the retailers to its newspaper advertising.

Attractive window forms have been gotten out which impress the advantage of ordering by telephone.

The stores are showing the displays, the newspaper advertising is going on, and the business of the telephone is increasing.

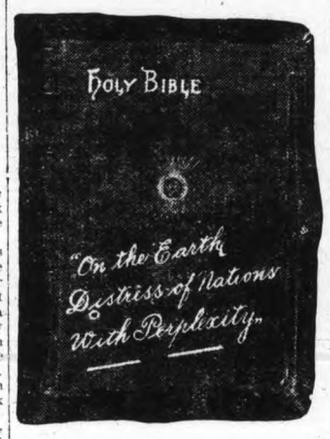
The co-operation in this campaign is a striking example of the way the retailer is impressed by advertising in his home newspaper and how he wants to assist in selling the goods.

Special Lecture in Pantages Theatre

"On the Earth Distress of Nations with Perplexity."

The first of a series of four Bible lectures will be delivered in the Pantages theatre, Sunday evening at 7.30. The subject "On the Earth Distress of Nations with Perplexity," is one of special interest.

As we look over the world to-day we surely see "distress of nations with perplexity men's hearts failing them for fear for looking after those things, which are coming on the earth," (Luke xxi; 25-26:)



Many think the present distress of nations bespeaks the end of the world. This, however, is mere speculation. The Bible says, "The earth abideth forever," Ecc. 1;4, and that God in His own good time will make it glorious.

The Bible, however, does foretell the present distress of nations, and the exact conditions as they exist to-day, foretelling of these things some twenty-five centuries ago with an accuracy and clearness of vision that is only found in the inspired word of God.

Accordingly we may well ask, what say the scriptures regarding the present distress of nations? When will it cease and what is there to follow? These questions as well as many others dealing with the Glorious Gospel of Hope, will be dealt with in this lecture.

This lecture is the first of a series of four lectures, which will be delivered each Sunday evening in the Pantages theatre, commencing with this Sunday. The subject for next Sunday will be "Christ's Kingdom the Hope of the World." The subject for the third Sunday will be "God's Great Stone Witness in the Midst of the Land of Egypt." Isiah xix; 19-20, and for the fourth Sunday, "Our Lord's Return and the Reward of the Overcomers."

These lectures are under the auspices of the International Bible Students' association, and are free; no collection is taken.

HAS SUSPENDED.

Vancouver German Newspaper Ceases Publication During Wartime; Short Duration of War.

The Vancouver German Press, in a statement issued on Thursday by Dr. Karl Weiss, announced its intention of suspending publication until the end of the war.

The question of having a paper printed in German in Vancouver was discussed at the last meeting of the police commissioners and Chief of Police MacLennan, who has the powers of a commissioner of Dominion police, was instructed to take the matter up with the proprietors of the Vancouver German press and suggest to them that they cease publication. It was pointed out at the commissioners' meeting that nothing in the nature of any disloyal or injurious statement had appeared in the Vancouver German press, but in view of possible trouble which might arise by patriotic citizens mistaking the object and designs of the paper it would be best serving its own interests by suspending publication for the time being.

The statement handed out by the editor of the Vancouver German press expressed the hope that the war would be of short duration and that publication would begin again soon.

AN AD ABOUT HATS

CONTAINING INTEREST-ING NEWS

Our Millinery department is not unusually extensive but it is complete; it is in charge of one of the most competent millinery advisers in Victoria, and it has a definite policy.

You will find the working out of that policy most interesting. It aims to afford you smart, up-to-the-minute hats at really reasonable prices. When you view the variety of beautiful models in our cosy atelier you will be surprised to learn that most of the hats are priced at from $5.00 to $8.75.

The tendency this Fall is towards dark shades. Black, black and white, dark green, grey and tete de negre are predominant; velvet and plush materials are in favor and small hats have the call. Trimmings run to small wings, stick-ups, gold and silver flowers and braid.

FASHION GLEANINGS FROM PARIS OPENINGS

Metallic Embroidery is Latest Novelty; Stripes Still Popular

New York, Sept. 5.—In spite of the war, gleanings of Fashion news seeps in some unknown way across the Atlantic. In Paris the couturiers have had their openings, even though the picturesque Paul Poiret has marched away to the music of the fife and drum. Cheriut has had her opening. Her coats hang straight from the shoulders to hem. Wide circular tunics full length were seen on many of her skirts. An unusual suit which she offered was of bright golden tan. The coat was in the redingote style pleated below the waistline, belted at the hips and buttoning from the shoulder to the belt in a straight line. The skirt was laid in groups of pleats with braided bands at either hip, producing a pocket effect.

The Callot Soeurs feature narrow foundation skirts with over skirts of draped metallic effects, and their coats are drawn in at the waist and flare below. Callot's sleeves are usually long and on street costumes and suits are finished with a cuff of the same fabric. Bernard is using fuller skirts. He, also, shows both long and short jackets, and for trimmings is using quantities of beaver fur and braiding.

An interesting thing about these openings is that no purchase can be made except for gold.

Velvet is one of the favored fabrics for day or evening wear among fall and winter materials. Also, the wonderful fur cloths which so faithfully imitate the Persian lamb, mole and other smooth furs are the rage.

A striking gown has a basque waist of the soft chiffon velvet tucked in crosswise tucks from waist to the low neck, which is outlined with a glittering band of jet insertion. Short sleeves of net have bands of velvet to edge them. On the foundation skirt of white satin are black velvet buttons placed straight down the front and over it hangs a pleated tunic and flounce of net, with wide velvet bands at the bottom of each. The waist is finished with a velvet sash having the ends looped in front.

For the young girl the simplest of frocks are shown and the crinoline styles seem well suited to her dainty dance frocks and evening dresses. Organdy continues to be extremely popular and a dress with a skirt having a series of organdy ruffles, picot edged, and a waist of net, with overwaist of organdy is effective and girlish. The overwaist and sleeves are looped up with artificial roses. The girdle of black velvet ends in the front with a single blushrose. Artificial flowers, roses especially, are used in place of buckles and rosettes. Metallic embroidery is a new trimming for fall gowns; some have merely metal threads and others combine with metal beads. Cut steel is combined with silver and gold. Among the Callot gowns one is trimmed with an embroidery of steel threads and china beads.

Many frocks in the Moyen Age style are shown and are exceedingly fashionable. Blue continues to be particularly stylish, and in these last named frocks is combined with black satin. Other frocks, afternoon and evening gowns are made with straight, short skirts, cut like a chemise. These are worn over full skirt of velvet, of silk, or satin, barred or checked with velvet ribbon. These are often belted at the hips in the front or in the back, but they show no waistline.

The advent of autumn with its flutter of multicolored leaves and the rustle of the wind through barren branches always brings with it a more sombre hue in women's clothes. Deep, dark blue, black, prairie green and tete de negre brown are the colors which are replacing the gaily hued clothes of the summertime. The exceptions are royal blue and copper color.

Metallic effects are supreme and are seen in weird and queer combinations; for instance, a rich yellow is brocaded with silver; a fine gold tissue is shadowed with gray, and worn over tomato red and emerald green.

The stripes continue to be popular and are brilliant in their contrast. Quarter-inch stripes of pink and black, blue and black, yellow and black, and

The marble effects are a late novelty in silks and ribbons and are effective indeed, but probably the most fascinating of these novelty silks are the fur imitations, leopard, with its black spots and civet cat with its effective markings. All are represented.

Colors for millinery differ from the colors of frocks and costumes. Among these is a new blue called ciel d'Egypte or Egyptian sky blue. This new shade has a touch of dull green in its composition, and is especially handsome in velvet used for the facing to wide brimmed hats. Fragonard and Nattier blues continue to be very smart for certain types of hats.

From the Balkan disturbance came the Balkan blouse and many Turkish effects in clothes, now the Mexican trouble has brought out silks and ribbons in Aztec colors and designs, and it will be interesting to note the effect the present war will have upon woman's clothes. It may be only a military effect, and yet there may be some outcome more interesting, which may spring up and influence clothes—as the long tunic and basque appeared—overnight.

At St. Michael he saw the return of the U. S. revenue cutter Bear after its search for the crew of the Karluk, and the starting of the relief expedition fitted out by Mr. Lindberg for the purpose.

DANCES NOW AT 13 PLAYED FIRST HERE

Fifi Moore Returns to City Where Stage Career Started; Doesn't Like Strangers

Not many have recognized in the graceful little girl who has danced so prettily in the tabloid act at Pantages theatre during this week the child who scored such a big success in "The Belle of New York" with the Pollards about 15 months ago at the Victoria theatre. Fifi Moore is her name and she is now just 13 years old.

There is a curious little story about her name. Her mother, (Pony Moore of this week's tabloid) was the first girl engaged by Mrs. Chester when she revived the old Pollard Opera company in which as a child she had herself been the leading lady. Pony Moore was playing the part of Fifi in "The Belle of New York" before she left the company to be married, and when this little girl was born it was decided to name her after the last part her mother had played.

By a curious coincidence when Fifi grew old enough to take her first part with the Pollards it was "The Belle of New York" they were playing and Fifi was cast for her name part. Hundreds of Victoria people remember the charming manner in which she acted and sang in the character of the little dancer who posed as the angel on the birthday cake until somebody attempted to break off a piece of the ear.

But Fifi has grown wonderfully in the past 15 months. She is two or three inches taller than the mite who stood on the birthday cake, and she wears long dresses—just about the length of the dress she wore in the first scene of the tabloid. It is no wonder she was not recognized, for when she was here last she did not look much more than 8 or 9.

While Fifi is truly a child of the stage she is none of the things that people usually imagine such children to be. She is not precociously clever, she is not forward or bold, she is not hopelessly lacking in schooling, and she is not a poor neglected little orphan. She is with her father and mother and always has been except for the three years she spent as a pupil in the convent seminary at Detroit. She went to school in New York and Chicago also.

A reporter of the Times went below the stage to be introduced to her last evening. Manager Rice preceded him by a few feet to see that the way was clear and the reporter overheard a shy little voice exclaim, "I don't know how to talk to gentlemen." Fifi was with her mother in the dressing room when the reporter was presented. She seemed bashful and almost embarrassed. Her mother explained that she had just been very indignant because she had received a note from a gentleman, who wished to meet her. The gentleman had written that he was a soldier and expected to be ordered to the front at any moment and wished to have a recollection of her to buoy him up through the grim days of fighting. Nothing makes Fifi so angry as to receive "mash" notes.

Conversation upon various topics ensued. But the conversation was largely between Fifi's mother and the reporter. Fifi refused to be drawn out. When addressed directly she answered quietly in monosyllables or very short sentences. Otherwise she did not speak at all. Without being bashful she was reserved and obviously very slow to make new friends.

This has been a pleasant week for her. Dahpne Pollard, of "The Candy Shop" is a very old and dear friend of Fifi's, while in the Allen Players Charles Bennett and Norman Pearce are former companions in the Pollard company. All of them called on her and Fifi was rejoiced to see them.

Her playmates now are the comedian in the sketch, who delights to amuse her with his funny talk, a big boy doll which he won for her at a fair a few weeks ago, and a classic little Boston bulldog.

"And daddy, too," she added, "only he is too fond of playing billiards."

AT THE THEATRES

"RESURRECTION."

In an article which recently appeared in the New York Dramatic Mirror the following passage occurred: "Obviously the first obligation of a dramatist is to have something to say. He must have something that will do good, will benefit his audiences in one way or another—as H. A. du Souchet used to say, 'to give each spectator a package to take home with him.' It must be a great idea which the play is designed to convey."

This is undoubtedly what has been achieved in the dramatized version of Tolstoi's famous book, "Resurrection," which is to be offered by the Allen Players at the Princess theatre next week. The play is a lesson to all, giving a remarkable insight into a phase of Russian life in an exciting and thrilling way, serving as a strong warning to women and a moral lesson to men. And through it all, by the hardships suffered by the peasant folk and the fortitude with which they face them, the "package" given for one to take home is that after the lot of the Anglo-Saxon is not bad.

To Verna Felton in next week's offering will fall the part of Katusha, a part she is eminently fitted for and one which will give scope to her well known breadth of ability. The various other parts have been distributed in a manner which assures a smooth and satisfying production.

"SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS."

"The Shepherd of the Hills," the dramatization of Harold Bell Wright's novel, which has been made by Mr. Wright and Elsbery W. Reynolds, at the Royal Victoria theatre on Wednesday, September 16.

The scenes of the play are laid among the Ozark mountains of Missouri. It is a story of the hills and the simple life, yet it has plenty of excitement and an air of mystery.

The story has to do with the father of an artist, who, tired of city life, goes into the Ozarks for peace and quietude. He learns of a grievous sin committed by his son, whom he mourns as dead. The son had visited the hills some years before, when he fell in love with a simple country girl. He painted her picture and when he went back to the city, deserting the girl, he earned fame because of the canvas. The girl deserted and broken-hearted, dies, leaving behind her a half-witted son.

It is to the home of this dead and wronged girl that the father of the artist comes, and here he is employed to watch the sheep. He grows to love the country and its people, and he and the half-witted boy, Pete, become friends. Then there is a love story running through the play that adds to its attractiveness. It is the love of a young giant of the hills for "Sammy Lane," a girl of unusual qualities.

"TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE"

In his dramatization of the widely read book, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," by John Fox, jr., Eugene Walter has made primitive love the motif for the feudal war that rages between the kinfolk of June, Mr. Fox's delightful heroine, and the Falins, who constitute the clashing mountain clans of the Cumberland range. In the production which will be given at the Royal Victoria theatre, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 17 and 18 it will be seen that Walter has amplified the love story and subdued the feud. In other words, he makes June's love for Hale the cause of the feud, in which Dave Tolliver's father, is murdered, and Berkley, Hale's chum, is wounded by young Dave Tolliver, who is an insanely jealous suitor for his cousin June's hand. Mr. Walter makes June's love arise from companionship around the lonely pine.

Isabelle Lowe has been selected to enact the role of June, and both suitor and dramatist are well pleased in the selection, for there is no other actress who could take the role with the spirit of the Southland better than Miss Lowe, who happens to be a Southern girl.

ORPHEUM VAUDEVILLE.

Heading the bill which the Orpheum circuit will present at the Royal Victoria next Monday and Tuesday, September 14 and 15 will be Claude Gillingwater and Edith Lyle in an original playlet by Mr. Gillingwater called "Wives of the Rich." Both Mr. Gillingwater and Miss Lyle are artists of distinction. Their present vehicle is ultra modern in tone and deals with the much-discussed "idle rich."

Ashley and Canfield are unique funmakers. They are parodists and singers who have established an enviable reputation on all the principal vaudeville stages of this and other countries. They sing their own versions of popular songs. Harry DeCoe who bills himself as "The Man With the Tables and Chairs," performs prodigies of daring and keeps the spectators in a state of constant thrill.

Another distinct novelty is presented in Chieftain Caupolican a full-blooded Indian, a member of the former savage Araucano tribe. He possesses a magnificent singing voice and studied for a number of seasons in Paris.

The Five Metzettis, featuring Sylvester Metzettis, offer a combination of athletic prowess. Sylvester is credited with being the only man in the world who turns a triple somersault in midair, alighting on a man's shoulders.

Weston and Clare present a refined singing and dancing number which offers a most pleasing departure from the stereotyped act of similar nature. Notable among the top-notchers of the dancing profession a the present time are The Grazers, a duo of disciples of the goddess of dance who have just returned from triumphs in the British Isles and Europe. Their toe-dancing is extremely beautiful and their mastery of musical instruments is complete.

Anaemia

Our blood is composed of red and white corpuscles—the red to nourish the body, the white to fight disease. In Anæmia, the red corpuscles are more or less deficient. Thus the blood cannot properly sustain and nourish the body. The eyes become dull, the face white, and a feeling of intense weariness pervades the whole system. There is nothing so effective in Anæmia as 'Wincarnis.' Because 'Wincarnis' floods the body with new, rich, red blood, which gives a sparkle to the eyes, brings the roses into the cheeks, and gives new vigour, new vitality and new life to the whole body. BRODMOUNT BOUND HERE.

That the British steamer Brodmount, Captain Martin, is coming to this port, is indicated by the fact that mail is beginning to arrive at the post office for the master. The Brodmount is a new ship, of some 3,750 tons, and apparently is bringing United Kingdom and Oriental freight this way. She sailed from Colombo on July 27 for Hankow, China, and is presumably coming on slowly with several calls at ports in China and Japan.

NATAL REPORTED.

San Francisco, Sept. 12.—The Danish steamer Natal, Capt. Dahl, which arrived here yesterday from European ports, made the last trip of the service of the Danish East Asiatic company via Magellan. The vessel was sixty-five days coming from Antwerp with a cargo of general merchandise. She goes on from here to Victoria, consigned to C. Gardner Johnson & Co.

Shipping News from Day to Day

LORNE IS LIKELY TO BE GOT OFF ROCKS

Position Favorable to Salvage; Damage From Grounding Comparatively Light

Cheering news is brought over from San Juan Island by Captain Melville F. Cutler regarding the condition of the sea-going tug Lorne, which went ashore on Ship Trees Point on that island while towing the coal barge, America. Dense fog in the gulf was the cause of the accident, as was stated at the time.

The Lorne has been pumped dry, but after this was done there was no vessel available to pull her off and she had to be let slip back into the cleft in the rocks where she had got wedged. There is no doubt, however, that she can be got off at an early date, and that it will not be long then until she is back in service again.

All the water that got in was what got down the hatches when she listed after sinking and was exposed to the wash of the waves. Her hull is not damaged and except for twenty feet of the keel being smashed she is practically uninjured. It is said that the barge, which was said to have broken her back, can also be salved, but her coal cargo will have to be lightened out of her first.

As soon as the tug is released from her position it is likely that she will be brought over here for repairs.

SAILINGS FOR ORIENT BY CANADIAN PACIFIC

It is announced by Captain Beetham, marine superintendent of the C. P. R. Steamship company in Vancouver, that the R. M. S. Monteagle will sail from Hongkong on September 30, from Yokohama on October 10, and will arrive here on October 24. She will sail from the outer wharf again on November 4 for Yokohama and Hongkong.

Four members of the crew of the Empress of Asia, requisitioned by the British admiralty for service in the China and Japan seas, have arrived in Vancouver by way of San Francisco, two of them being engineers and two deck ratings.

It is said by them that the familiar white of the Empress liners has given place to the dark grey of the navy in war time. The steamship is now equipped with eight four-point-seven guns, and is looked upon by the navy officers in the China fleet as being one of the crack cruisers of the fleet so far as speed goes.

RIVER FORTH CHARTERED.

The British steamship River Forth, Captain Hilden, has been taken by Hind, Rolph & company at San Francisco to carry lumber to the south at 4s. 10½d., delivery in Newcastle, N. S. W., and redelivery in Australia via the North Pacific.

OFFER USE OF WHARF.

For the purpose of loading the provincial gift to the Imperial government of canned salmon, Findlay, Durham & Brodie have offered the use of their wharf in the inner harbor. Arrangements for securing the 25,000 cases required for the shipment are said to be well under way.

MAQUINNA IS LOADING.

The Princess Maquinna docked at the outer wharf this morning and is engaged in taking on mainland shipments which were discharged from the Aki Maru. There are close on one thousand tons of freight to be transferred to the mainland.

STRATHFILLAN AGROUND.

The British steamer Strathfillan, which is on her way from this port to Mukilteo, grounded for a tide while she was docking at Sydney. She did not get on very hard, however, and got off at the next high tide.

CROWN OF SEVILLE LOADING.

The Crown of Seville will go to Seattle to unload next week and will then begin to load for the United Kingdom, taking lumber, flour and salmon from the Sound, and completing her cargo at San Francisco.

STRATHORD IS CHARTERED.

The British freighter Strathord, Captain Innes, under charter to the American Trading company, is on the way here to load lumber for Port Pirie at 3s. 1½d.

MOVES TO SEATTLE.

The British steamship Monmouthshire, which called here this week and went on to Vancouver, has moved down the Sound to discharge cargo at Seattle.

"Count," said the lady to the foreign nobleman at the charity bazaar, "won't you buy this rose? It is only one guinea." "I am very sorry," said the Count, with a courtly bow, "but ze price is a leetle too high." The lady kissed the rose. "And now, Count, will you buy it?" "No, madame," he said, with a still deeper bow. "Now ze rose is priceless."

TEUCER RETURNS TO DISCHARGE CARGO

Will Unload Six Hundred Tons and Proceed to Load for United Kingdom

The Blue Funnel liner Teucer, Capt. tain Yarrow, came in again this morning and is now berthed at the outer wharf to discharge 600 tons of United Kingdom and Oriental freight which she has brought for consignees here. On her arrival in port from the Orient she sailed for Tacoma to discharge passengers and silk.

From here the Teucer will move to Vancouver to discharge and load, and will then returnu to the Sound to complete discharging and to load for the homeward voyage. She will sail from the outer wharf on September 30 and is due in Liverpool on Christmas morning.

Double shifts of longshoremen will be put to work on the cargo inward and outward so as to expedite the handling of it. There is an immense accumulation of freight for the steamer both here and at other ports, owing to the Protesilaus having been taken by the admiralty for use as a supply ship at this port. The Teucer will have her holds crammed full, and even then some of the shipments that will not be affected by the delay will have to be left over for a subsequent steamship of this line.

PRINCE ALBERT MAY YET BE SALVAGED

The news from Prince Rupert about the Prince Albert is that the salvors hope to get her off the rocks in Brown Passage, where she went aground on the evening of August 18. She has been lying easily and with the continuance of good weather she ought to be got off before the autumn gales set in.

Since the accident happened the tug Salvor has been at the spot, but is now in Prince Rupert to secure more material for the work. This week two attempts were made to pull the steamer into deep water, but on Thursday the wind from the northeast became so strong that the attempt had to be temporarily abandoned until the weather moderates.

The Prince Albert lies between two ledges of rock, in a very exposed position in which the northeast winds sweep down upon her, and it is this that rendered it impossible to continue with the work of salvage when the wind set in from that direction on Thursday.

The position in which the steamer settled is such that at first the chances of getting her off seemed to be hopeless, but when the salvors got to work on her it is said, they found that there exists a chance to float her into deep water. If this can be done, of course, it will mean that she can be towed into harbor and repaired. Work has progressed so far, it is understood, that with fine weather and the wind from some other direction than the present it should not take long to pull the vessel clear.

INQUIRY TO BE HELD.

Captain J. D. Macpherson, wreck commissioner for this coast, has received instructions from the department of marine and fisheries to hold an inquiry here into the recent collision between the Princess Victoria and the Admiral Sampson, in which the latter vessel was sent to the bottom of the Sound. This is likely to take place next week

HOW AN IRISHMAN IN STATES VIEWS WAR

Nation Sinks Political Differences to Hold Line Against Empire's Foes

That the Irish attitude in face of a common enemy is that of the men of that race wherever they may be found is evidenced in an effusion by a well-known transportation man which has been sent to one of the local ticket agents by a mutual friend across the line.

The Irishman in question has lived all his life in the United States and is an ardent home ruler, who has always nursed a considerable grudge against the empire generally and the imperial parliament in particular for the treatment received in the past by the land of his fathers. Another railway man, of German ancestry, recently got hold of a war area map issued by his railroad and colored practically the whole of Europe red, with the legend that the portion in that color represented the German empire at the conclusion of the war.

To show that the Germans would fight any of the Irish question he left the Isle of Man out with the pencilled remark, "We'll put all the Irish here." This he sent to a friend, who in turn sent it to the Irishman. The latter saw the joke all right, but he could not resist the call of the blood and dashed off the following as his opinion on the part Irishmen must play:

"Red? All red after war? After, did you say? Yes, you're right. It will be a red after the war. But let us see—isn't it all red now? Red with the best blood of all the world—soaked with the life-tide of a world cycle—for surely must some such immeasurable period of time elapse before man will have regained that which was sacrificed to make a Prussian military holiday.

"They were all to blame, did I hear you say? You're wrong. The crime of causing such a holocaust could only be conceived in the brains of a madman or madmen—such men, for instance, as could scatter explosive mines on the high seas to endanger the life and property of the neutral, regardless of sex, age or human right. Only such a man or men could so revert to the abyssmal brute that can and is now dropping explosive bombs from air crafts on undefended cities, little caring if those bombs destroy the lives of little children or wreck the buildings used to house and care for the maimed, aged or suffering—seemingly not caring if they should destroy the place of worship of the God they ask for success in their hellish warfare.

"Not much difference, is there, between the Indian with his victim at the stake, gratifying his bestial senses with the suffering he provokes, and the men who burnt out the life of a city, Louvain?

"William the Weed! The War Lord! He of the mailed fist! He of the shining armor!

"'He that liveth by the sword, shall perish by the sword.'

"The man who had planned that we Irish would rebel when he raised his war standards—how little he must know of, or understand, real men. Yes, we Irishmen armed for the fray, but, thank God, not as he thought—not with him, or for him—but against everything for which he stands, and to the last man and last gasp, with our brothers of 'The Seven Seas,' holding the line against him.

"We've held many a line for Britain—Rorke's Drift, Mafeking, Ladysmith, Waterloo—and, please God, we'll hold this line—hold it till his black soul quivers with fright—hold it until his war standards are down— and then we'll find another island where the Hohenzollerns can dream life away, as such another war lord dreamed his—and, brother, that only will be the end, that only can be the end."

WEIRD EXPERIENCE OF A KOOTENAY PURSER

How a superstitious fresh-water mariner was nearly scared out of his wits by an incident happening on Arrow lake, is related by Fred Wright, now chief clerk of the San Francisco & Portland Steamship company, who steamboated there in the stirring mining days of the Kootenays in the late '90's.

Mr. Wright was purser on the steamer Kootenay and Jack Allen was mate. The steamer was bound from Arrow Head to Robson with passengers and freight. She carried a large amount of baggage on the deck. Underneath the baggage was a coffin. Night was approaching and Allen, the mate, was sure he heard a ghostly voice down where the coffin was buried.

He hurried to Wright's room and excitedly told about it and expressed the belief that either a spook was in there or the fellow in the box was not dead. Wright returned with him to investigate. After a few minutes spent there, nothing unusual transpiring, he returned to his room.

He had not more than reached it when Allen hurried to him again all out of breath and dragged Wright with him to the stack of baggage. Sure enough, Wright says, he heard a suppressed voice exclaim, "Let me out—you fools, let me out—you fools, let me out!"

The trunks, grips and suitcases were removed in record time until the coffin had been uncovered. An axe was raised to crash in the outer box incasing it when a green parrot in a cage which had turned turtle and was lying under a suitcase again implored them to let him out.

BILL GOODMAN AFTER MANAGERIAL BERTH WITH VICTORIA CLUB

Changes Likely in Local Squad for 1915; Weiser Dell Sold to Brooklyn Nationals; Baseball Gossip

With the closing of the Northwestern league season to-morrow, when the Victoria and Vancouver clubs play at Bellingham, Wash., the fans will be figuring out the changes in the local team for 1915. The numerous changes in the ownership of the club this year did not tend to increase its percentage in games won and lost, and there is a local feeling that the Bees must be strengthened. The recall of Calvo and Hoffman does not help matters, though there is a chance that both of these players will be back again next season. The drafting season may take two more players away from the club, but even at that the club will shape up much better than it did at the start of this season.

Lamb will probably be used in a trade for a harder hitting third baseman and Bill Goodman may pilot the Bees next season, covering the hot corner. Marty Nye has fielded in magnificent style all year. He fell away badly in his hitting, but he will no doubt be brought back. Scanlon is a fair utility player who will improve, while Driscoll may possibly be moulded into a splendid outfielder. Kelly is a certainty for first base, so that two at least of the present quartette will be retained.

Two of the pitchers may be drafted but that will leave the Bees with three hurlers better than the average. The present staff of Narveson, Steele, Smith, McHenry and Hanson compares with any other slab brigade in the league. Driscoll can be used as a relief hurler when the double-headers pile up. The management will endeavor to secure another pitcher who can also be used in the outfield and a trade may be put through with that in view.

Two hard-hitting outfielders must be secured during the winter months to replace Calvo and Wilhoit. Pat Moran may be given another chance because of his speed and fielding ability. The club needs a veteran catcher who can round the ball around the .300 mark, and the management has in view a former International leaguer who is a wonder at developing young twirlers and handling youthful ball players. If the attendance at Victoria cannot be depended upon to pay the expenses, the club will have to make up by selling players. The trouble between the majors and Federals will no doubt have blown over by next year so that the sale of players should be the big item for the Victoria management.

New grounds may be secured for 1915, but with owner Kingham retaining a lease on the present site there is a doubt. It might be possible to shift the grand stand of the present grounds and do away with so many home runs, and this would help considerably. The present Victoria club is lost when stacked up against a club of long fly hitters on the local diamond. The prospects are smudged over a bit because of the war depression, but with the loyal support of the fans, there is no reason why baseball in the capital next year should not at least pay its own way.

Martin Killilay probably will be sold to the Oakland Coast league club. Jack Killilay, his brother, is a pitcher on Tyler Christian's club, and gives his brother a big boost daily.

Alva Gipe started to pitch professional ball for Venice in the Coast league in 1910, was with the club again in 1911 when he led the league, sold to Philadelphia Athletics and sent first to the New England league, then to the New Orleans club of the Southern association. Dug bought him from Connie Mack in 1912 and he joined the club in 1913. He has as good a chance as Harstad to make good.

President Dugdale has disposed of Weiser Dell's contract to the Brooklyn club of the National league. This is not his first trip to the majors, as he was with the St. Louis Cardinals before Seattle got hold of him. Since coming to Seattle, Dell has pitched good ball and holds the strike-out record of the Northwestern league at sixteen.

Frank Chance probably is kicking himself all over New York to-day. Davis, a pitcher he released last season, was purchased by the Boston Nationals from the Lowell club of the New England league and shut out the Phillies this week without a hit in the second game of a double-header. Even Ring Lardner's heroes could not do better than that, not even Frank Merriwell. Davis put the Braves a game and a half ahead of New York.

LOU MACDONALD

Victoria youth, a member of the 90th regiment lacrosse club of Winnipeg, who may go to the front. "Muck" Menzies, another local athlete, may also go for service abroad.

VICTORIA CLUB IS LOSER ON LACROSSE

Coast Amateurs Failed to Break Even This Season; Big Four Teams Also Lost

While Victoria's amateur lacrosse twelve finished up the season at the bottom rung of the P. C. A. L. A. ladder, the officials of the club are not by any means down-hearted. Three of the games were chucked away by one goal. Had Victoria's home players displayed the same brand of lacrosse as the defence men did, the locals would now have been rejoicing in possession of the Mann cup. New Westminsters lay their whole success in landing second position in the league to the excellence of their home, and the cup holders, the V. A. C. men, form a club that can score eight or ten goals in a match if necessary.

The Victoria club lost financially, the war and the general sport depression robbing the locals of several good home gates that might have enabled them at least to break even on the season. Should a professional club be established here next season, it is altogether likely that the amateur team will work in harmony with the pro's as regards practice. This should help to develop the necessary strength on the Victoria attack.

Toronto, Sept. 12.—The local lacrosse season came to a close with the playing of the Toronto-Tecumseh game at the Island. This wound up the Big Four season and marked the end of a campaign that has been disastrous in more ways than one. The Nationals, who made their final appearance at the Beach, are the only club in the league to make any money, and they have not done so well as in seasons past. The Tecumsehs will drop in the neighborhood of $2,000, while the Torontos will lose probably twice that much.

The Irish-Canadians have practically subsisted on charity since their removal from Quebec, the original backers of the club having given up the ghost long ago and the league has been compelled to finance the team in order to maintain its prestige as the leading lacrosse organization. All told, the season has been particularly bad for the national game and the future is not any too bright.

President Quinn, however, is optimistic. He says that the Big Four will be doing business at the old stand, the same as ever next season, although he admits that certain changes will have to be made.

The Nationals' undoubted superiority over the other teams, no doubt, had a great deal to do with the falling off in interest. The league was not well balanced and the majority of the games were one-sided until lately. Ottawa, Cornwall and Shamrocks may be taken into the circuit next year.

RUGBY UNION WILL MEET MONDAY NIGHT

Whether or not the Victoria Rugby union will reorganize this year will be decided at a meeting of the union which will be held on Monday night at the Ritz hotel. There will be no matches this year for the McKechnie cup, because of the cancelling of the Vancouver Rugby schedule. The Victoria club will retain this trophy, and the British Columbia cup. It is just possible that the local union will decide on an off season also, a number of the best Rugbyists in the capital having joined the Canadian contingent.

SASKATOON REPEATS IN COMFORTABLE STYLE

A great many baseball leagues ended their seasons this week. In the western Canada league Saskatoon won the pennant with Bill Hurley in charge. Saskatoon had a comfortable margin. In the Northern league Duluth nosed out Winnipeg in one of the closest finishes in the history of the league. In the Canadian league Ottawa won the pennant for the third year in succession, just finishing a few points in front of London. The Tri-State league resulted in a win for Harrisburg, while in the Texas league Waco and Houston tied for the first places. Failure to play nine innings in the first game of a double-header with Waco, which Houston won, cost Houston the pennant. The contest in question was cut to a seven inning game by agreement and Waco's protest that all first games must be nine innings was upheld by Secretary Farrell, of the National commission. As a result Houston and Waco tied for first place.

VANCOUVER OFFICIALS ACTED TOO HASTILY

D. F. A. Will Probably Retain Entrance Fee; Coast Clubs Remain With A. A. U.

Vancouver clubs will have to forfeit $50 as a result of the decision of the B. C. F. A. to withdraw from the Dominion Football association last night. The mainland delegates forwarded $50 as an entrance fee last week to the head office of the D. F. A. at Toronto, and while President Dave Leith has written asking that it be refunded, there is little possibility of the D. F. A. officials allowing it to slip away from them.

A Victoria soccer representative who was at last night's meeting stated to the Times that as the mainland officials had forwarded this money to the D. F. A. without consulting the local clubs they alone will have to stand the loss. The Mainland Football association was strongly represented at last night's gathering, which was held in the Y. M. C. A., and the decision to withdraw from the D. F. A. was unanimous. The latter's decision to disregard the amateur union definition of an amateur athlete is the whole cause of the split. Were the coast soccer clubs to throw in their lot with the D. F. A. they would probably be outlawed by the amateur union, in which case a number of all-round athletes who include soccer in their activities would be placed under the ban. President Dave Leith stated that the McBride shield would be held by the B. C. F. A. until next spring, Coquitlam having played an unregistered player in the final against the Wards.

Some minor alterations were made in the constitution, and it was announced that there will be but two districts organized this year under the D. F. A., the lower mainland is already in operation and the Victoria association will open on September 26. The representation on the board was decreased to two. Those present were President Leith and Messrs. Reed and Simson, of Vancouver, and Messrs. Walker and Youson, Victoria.

Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—Though the kicks could do nothing on the field in the Connaught series Wednesday owing to a heavy rainstorm, the Dominion football association held three meetings. The chief results of the day's deliberations were the declaration that Harry Ambler, of the Norwood Wanderers of Winnipeg, is a professional, and that henceforth no team in the Connaught cup may draw upon another team of its own or any other league in the district for players for the series.

M'HENRY UNABLE TO STOP BEAVERS

Vancouver Won 3 to 1 in Close Contest; Spokane Loses to Seattle

Vancouver, Sept. 12.—Despite the fact that there is but one left-handed batsman in the club, Victoria is helpless against southpaw pitching this year. Yesterday at the local ball park Dutch Reuther twirled another victory over the Bees and most of his work is accounted for by the fact that he hurls with his port arm. McHenry pitched a splendid game for the Bees and should have won in finished style, but the Bees were not clouting the ball behind him and he was compelled to accept the short end of the score. Victoria secured eight hits off Reuther, while the Terminals hammered out eight scratches off McHenry. Vancouver cannot lose the gonfalon and the teams will close the season to-morrow afternoon at Bellingham. Victoria lost half a game to Tacoma yesterday, so that the Tigers have a chance to slip into fifth place unless the Islanders take a brace.

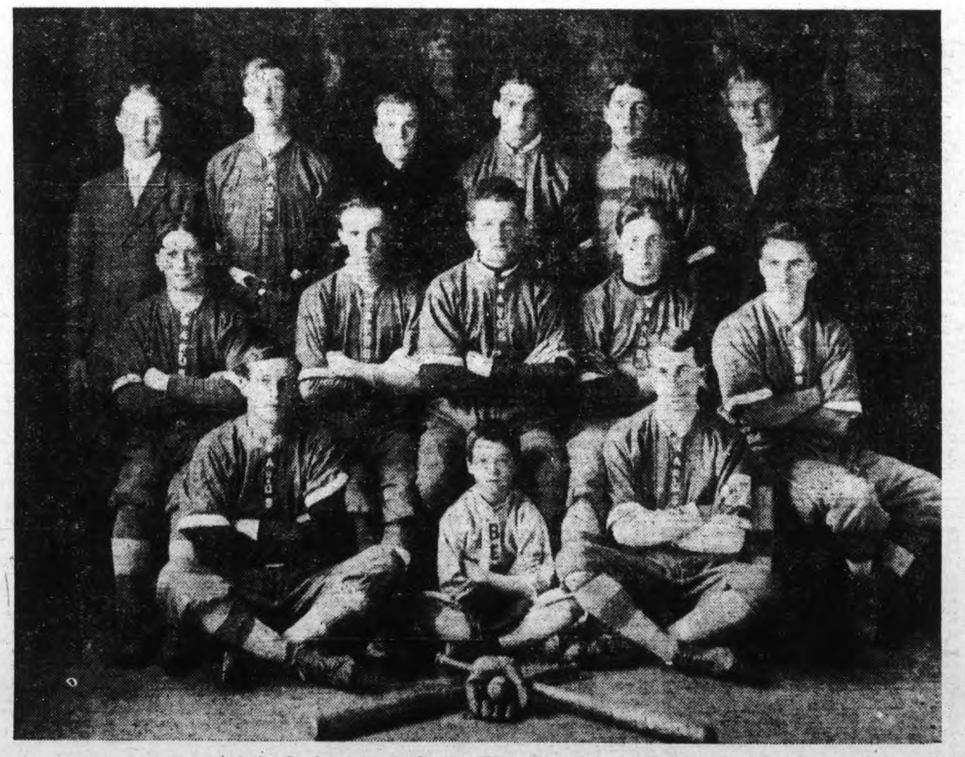
INTERMEDIATE BASEBALL CHAMPIONS



North Wards, champions of the Intermediate league, have a wonderful record for this season. They played thirteen games and lost but one. For several years these boys have played together, hence they know each other's work perfectly. In 1912 they won the junior championship with ease. In 1913 they repeated the performance, although without the services of Balcolm, who had broken his arm. They won so handily that they decided to play intermediate ball this season, and easily captured the championship.

In two games against their most serious rivals, the White Sox, Balcolm shut out the opponents each time without a hit. Taylor, their relief pitcher, also twirled steady ball. Dinsdale, Balcolm's battery mate, is considered the best catcher in the Intermediate league, and one of the most reliable in the city.

Leslie Lane on first, is a reliable fielder and a good hitter; Milne, who has not passed his eighteenth birthday, is a star performer on second. Allie McGregor, the well known all-round athlete, played a sterling game at short all season, while Ed. Hall, on third, is the city's best third-sacker. Not only is he a good hitter, but his fielding is sensational. The outfield is composed of Gordie Ledingham, Dick Wall, and Fred Schneider, all of whom are very steady and also handy with the willow. Bobby Livingstone is a youngster whom Manager Simpson secured from the Junior Bees. He has proved himself very steady behind the bat, and seldom has a chance to work with Dinsdale catching such good ball.

Manager Robert Simpson had the boys working hard in the spring in preparation for the season's opening. He patched up all the weak spots and had a lot to do with the success of the team.

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cape Wolfe, Canada.—"Last March I was a complete wreck. I had given up all hope of getting better or living any length of time, as I was such a sufferer from female troubles. But I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am in good health and have a pair of twin boys two months old and growing finely. I surprised doctors and neighbors for they all know what a wreck I was.

"Now I am healthy, happy and hearty, and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies. You may publish this letter if you like. I think if more women used your remedies they would have better health."—Mrs. J. T. COOK, Lot No. 7, Cape Wolfe, P.E.I., Canada.

Because your case is a difficult one, and doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of women—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

OUR LETTER BOX

Letters for publication in Daily Times must be received at the Times Office not later than the day before the day of publication. When received later they will be held over until the following day.

While unobjectionable anonymous communications will be published, the name and address of every writer of such letters must be given to the editor.

SUBURBAN MILITARY ORGANIZATION.

To the Editor:—Would it not be possible to organize the districts outside Victoria in a scheme of local training, so that men and youths in the outlying suburbs and ranches, debarred from military training by their distances from the city, might be prepared for eventualities? The war might be protracted, and lads at present under age might be thus made ready to take the field when their time came; and even we men in years might be prepared to take some place in the scheme of empire defence if required.

Earl Kitchener recently called for men who could shoot, expressly indicating indifference as to drill, and I doubt if the empire could anywhere produce a greater proportion of marksmen per capita than can be found in the districts outside our own city.

S. J. FETHERSTON.

THE PATRIOTIC FUND.

To the Editor: There are people in British Columbia who from age or infirmity are unable to supplement a fixed income, and who, with a struggle, owe no man anything. Yet they have given, and will continue giving, the last cent they can spare, for the wives and children of the men who have gone from them. Are millionaires and trades people denying themselves to a greater extent than this? Do they feel the "pinch" as much when they contribute out of their abundance to the patriotic fund as those I have referred to?

If the press would pat these people occasionally on the back it would give them heart to continue giving the mite they can so badly afford.

Meetings Next Week.

Monday—Victoria Lodge No. 1.
Tuesday — Vancouver Encampment No. 1.
Wednesday—Columbia Lodge No. 2.
Thursday—Dominion Lodge No. 4.

Victoria Lodge No. 1.

The regular meeting of this lodge will be held on Monday evening next, and as several candidates have been notified to be present to receive the initiatory degree, in all probability the team will be called upon to confer the degree.

Vancouver Encampment No. 1.

Bro. F. Shaver, team captain of the encampment, would be much pleased to have all members of the team present next Tuesday evening, as several candidates are expected to be on hand to receive their degrees.

Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1.

This lodge has announced a flannel dance for Tuesday evening, September 22, and invitations have been sent to the various I. O. O. F. lodges. The membership generally will be pleased that the members of Colfax lodge have decided upon this form of entertainment, and there will no doubt be a large number present.

Columbia Lodge No. 2.

The presentation of the souvenirs to the members of the degree team which took part in the recent competition will take place on Wednesday evening, September 23, and it is hoped that all members will be present on that occasion. The social committee has made a note of the date and the likelihood is that it will have something to offer on that evening which will, as usual, be appreciated by all. The second degree will be conferred on Wednesday evening next.

Dominion Lodge No. 4.

Dominion Lodge had a busy time on Thursday evening, several important items of business being dealt with. The degree team under Bro. Graham conferred the second degree on five candidates. The same candidates will receive the third degree next Thursday, and it is hoped that there will be a good attendance of the members. It is very necessary that the members should attend the lodge this winter, as owing to quite a number of the officers being with the various regiments the team captain is finding some trouble in arranging the team for the various degrees. On Thursday, September 24, the second whist tournament will be held. As this is a free night the entertainment committee is anxious to see a very large attendance, and hopes that quite a number from both Victoria and Columbia lodges will attend. There is yet time to get into the running for the prize. Visiting brothers are particularly welcome.

Will Attend Sovereign Grand Lodge.

Bro. F. E. Simpson, P. G. M., left yesterday for Atlantic City, N.J., where he will attend the sessions of the sovereign grand lodge which will be held in that city this month, commencing Monday, Sept. 21.

Returning Donations.

Grand Secretary Bro. F. Davey is busily engaged at the present time returning a portion of the money donated for the recent jubilee celebration to the various lodges which subscribed to the fund. About 16 per cent. of the amount donated is being returned, as there was a surplus of $1,261.23. The total amount donated was $8,028.15, and the expenses of the celebration amounted to $6,766.92.

LAYMEN IN PULPITS

Methodist Extension Society Will Send Greetings to All Congregations Here To-morrow.

The Methodist Church Extension society of this city, which was formed nearly two years ago for the purpose of assisting outlying points without church services of any kind in the task of obtaining sites for churches, is about to celebrate the second anniversary of its existence. The society is taking advantage of the quarterly exchange of Methodist pulpits, which is to take place to-morrow, of sending its greetings to all the congregations by a number of representative laymen who will accompany the various ministers for that purpose.

A great deal of practical assistance has been afforded to many of the weaker districts. The society has been instrumental in erecting outright three churches, besides contributing large amounts to other congregations. In putting up church buildings the society has established a record in the time operations of building and on each succeeding occasion has broken its own record, the last church having been erected in about seventeen working hours.

During the two years no less than $10,356.15 has been paid into the society. This has all been spent with the exception of $37.70. Unpaid subscriptions are due to the amount of $450. The securing of this amount in admittedly dull times is regarded as most creditable.

The list of churches and the delegations for to-morrow's services are as follows: Metropolitan church, Rev. S. J. Thompson and Ald. Geo. Bell; Centennial church, Rev. Jos. Philp and W. J. Sargent; Wesley church, Rev. T. Keyworth and W. N. Mitchell; James Bay church, Rev. D. W. Ganton and J. S. McAdam; Belmont Avenue church, Rev. Jno. Robson and J. Stobart; Fairfield church, Rev. L. S. Albright and W. Ritchie; Hampshire Road church, Rev. C. G. Brown and H. J. Knott; Burnside church, Rev. T. Green and J. W. Pimlott; Oaklands church, Rev. R. Wilkinson; Esquimalt church, Rev. F. N. Stapleford and N. Shakespeare; Strawberry Vale, Rev. W. C. Bunt and R. Beard.

TORTURED NO LONGER WITH ASTHMA

Sometimes He Had to Sit Up All Night For Weeks at a Time—Suffered for 15 Years Until He Cured Himself With "Fruit-a-tives."

D. A. WHITE, ESQ

21 Wallace Ave., Toronto, Dec. 22, 1913.

"Having been a great sufferer from Asthma for a period of fifteen years (sometimes having to sit up nights for weeks at a time), I began the use of "Fruit-a-tives." These wonderful tablets relieved me of Indigestion, and through the continued use of same, I am no longer distressed with that terrible disease, Asthma, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives" which are worth their weight in gold to anyone suffering as I did. I would heartily recommend them to all sufferers from Asthma, which I believe is caused or aggravated by Indigestion."

D. A. WHITE.

Asthma is a disease of the Nerves. It usually attacks those of a highly strung nervous system—those whose nerves are easily affected by any disturbance of digestion. This is why 98% of those who suffer from Asthma, also suffer with Indigestion, Dyspepsia or Constipation. In Mr. White's case, his Asthma was cured at the same time that his Indigestion was cured.

Why? Because "Fruit-a-tives" acts directly on stomach, bowels, kidneys and skin. "Fruit-a-tives" cleans the whole system of the poisons that are irritating the nerves. "Fruit-a-tives" sweetens the stomach, insures sound digestion and healthy appetite. "Fruit-a-tives" is a positive cure for Asthma and Hay Fever.

The Sunday school was in session, and the teacher, looking over her class, asked: "Who led the children of Israel into Canaan?" There was no reply. "Why, children, don't any of you know?" inquired the teacher. "You must have studied the lesson. Will the boy on that seat next the aisle please answer? Who led the children of Israel into Canaan?" The little boy, who was a new-comer, was badly frightened. "Please, ma'am, it wasn't me," he finally answered. "I just moved here last week from the country."

A clergyman was once solemnizing a wedding at which the remarks and responses of the bridegroom were so incoherent as to render it quite evident that he had been drinking too freely. The minister, addressing the bride, who seemed nervous, said: "My good woman, you must go away and come to-morrow. This man is not fit to be married in such a condition. You must take him away and bring him when he's sober." "Please sir," said the bride, with tearful face "he won't come when he's sober."

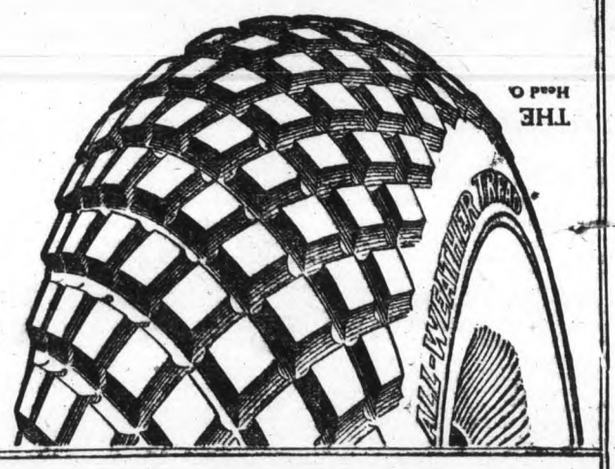
Your Enemies as a Tire User are

Rim-Cuts
Blow-Outs
Loose Treads
Punctures
Skidding

Note How we Combat them in

No-Rim-Cut Tires

Made in Canada



Needless Tire Troubles

Rim-Cuts—the chiefest tire troubles—are utterly needless. They are ended completely—in a faultless way—in Goodyear No-Rim-Cut tires.

Blow-Outs, in large part, are due to wrinkled fabric. Our "On-Air" cure eliminates this cause. This exclusive Goodyear process adds greatly to our own cost.

Loose treads we combat by a patent method. Hundreds of large rubber rivets are formed in each tire, reducing this risk 60 per cent.

Punctures are minimized in our All-Weather tread. It is tough and double-thick.

Skidding is best combated by this same exclusive tread. The grips are sharp, deep, resistless. Yet the tread is flat and regular. It runs as smoothly as a plain tread.

Save These Losses

Save the avoidable troubles. Get all the safety, strength and mileage that you can. Then you have the utmost in a tire.

That is what Goodyear gives you. In the five ways cited, no other maker offers what we give.

The result is that Goodyear leads. No other tire commands such prestige or such sale.

And 18 other American and Canadian makes cost more than Goodyears.

FAIR IS CANCELLED

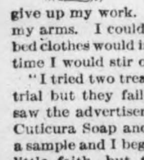
Show at Saanichton Will Not Be Held; Directors Consider Effects of War.

The annual fair of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society at Saanichton will not be held this year. At a meeting of the society on Wednesday the directors considered the conditions which have been brought about as a result of the war and came to the conclusion that it would be advisable to cancel the event for this year. The fair was to have been held on October 2 and 3.

The cancelling of the show has brought about a new set of financial conditions, as the annual grants are not forthcoming unless the fair is held. So that the association may continue to maintain its fine financial condition, the directors expressed the desire that all members would pay up their subscriptions this year as usual. If this was done the fair next year would have an excellent start and would undoubtedly surpass those held in the past.

BURNING AND ITCHING ECZEMA

On Hands and Arms. Broke Out in Fine Rash. Had to Give Up Work. Could Not Rest. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.



Lombardy, Ont. — "I had been suffering for two years with eczema on my hands and arms. At first my hand broke out in a fine rash with a burning and itching that was hard to bear. The itching and burning were so bad I had to scratch till my hands and arms bled and were so sore I could not stand to put them in water. I also had to give up my work. Then it spread all over my arms. I could not rest at night as the bed clothes would irritate the eruption every time I would stir or move my hands.

"I tried two treatments giving each a fair trial but they failed to cure me. Then I saw the advertisement in the paper about Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a sample and I began to use them with very little faith, but to my surprise I found relief from the very first. I washed my hands in warm water with Cuticura Soap and dried them with a soft cloth, then I put the Cuticura Ointment on and bandaged them with soft cloth. I used two boxes of the Cuticura Ointment with the Cuticura Soap and used them steady for two months and they entirely cured me." (Signed) Mrs. Helena E. McCall, May 17, 1913.

A single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient when all else has failed. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. D, Boston, U. S. A.

LYDDITE EXPLODED AT POLICE COURT TO-DAY

Expert Evidence in Trial of Gurdit Singh and Dralif Singh; Committed

Lyddite powder explosions, exhibitions of bombs in their early stages, practical demonstrations of the effects of explosions by an expert and evidence of a most striking character filled out one of the most interesting trials in years at the city police court this morning, when Gurdit Singh and Dralif Singh were charged with having explosives in their possession. At the close of the hearing Magistrate Jay announced that he had come to the conclusion that it would be preferable to have the case tried before a higher court and committed both men for trial. E. E. Wootton appeared for the prisoners.

The first witness called this morning was the man who made the alleged bomb. He detailed the visit of Gurdit Singh and Dralif Singh to his shop, and their instructions to him. The metal cylinder was a three-inch pipe about 20 inches long with two caps screwed on threads, one of which was fixed. Gurdit had particularly requested that a small hole should be drilled in the end. The next day both Hindus had gone to the shop, had paid $1.50 for the pipe and departed, carrying it with them.

Henry Macfarlane, an explosives expert from the navy yard at Esquimalt, stated that the alleged bomb would, if filled with dynamite or used as a shrapnel shell, be very dangerous indeed. He recounted an experiment he had made with a bomb shaped similarly to the object produced in court. He believed that if such a missile were filled with dynamite and placed expertly against a wall, it would blow up a very large building with ease. He further stated that it would, if filled with rock and flint and old metal and fired with gunpowder and thrown among a crowd, kill everybody within a radius of 50 or 60 yards of the place it struck. The effect of using lyddite would be even more terrible as the fumes were intensely poisonous.

Mr. Macfarlane went on to explain the method of procedure in firing it. It would be necessary to put a piece of wire down to the powder and wrap a safety fuse around it. A safety fuse found in the house of Gurdit Singh was exhibited and elicited the statement from the expert that such was used in regular explosive operations.

A smaller object, alleged to be a bomb, found in the Hindu's house, drew from the witness the statement that he had seen a similar one elsewhere, and it would be extremely dangerous to life if filled with nitro-glycerine.

Detectives Heather and Edens spoke of finding the house of Gurdit Singh, and produced the various things they had found in it. These included revolver bullets, lyddite powder, metal shears, hammers, one empty cylinder like a bomb, some wood alcohol and salts of silver of an explosive nature.

City Analyst Birch gave evidence of the analysis of the last named substance, and of the finding of small lyddite crystals in evaporating basins.

SATISFY AUDIENCE ON VARIOUS BY-LAWS

Reeve and Two Councilors Address Ward 1 Saanich Ratepayers

To a large audience gathered at Cedar Hill hall under the auspices of Ward One, Saanich Ratepayers' association last evening Reeve McGregor and Councilors Borden and Adams explained the by-laws upon which a vote of the ratepayers is to be taken next Saturday.

The grounds were similar to those taken at the meeting on the previous evening in Ward Two and there were many questions asked. One woman voter kept up a running fire of comment while Councilor Adams was dealing with the water question.

Councilor Adams told his hearers plainly that if the by-law for waterworks was beaten the council would be forced back to the creation of a number of small water districts. Such districts would be without cohesian and without any system and it would be impossible to connect the outer fringe of the municipality with the suburban portion, as was possible under the scheme before the ratepayers.

As representative of the ward Councilor Borden took up the paving question. He showed how the specifications for the road work had been modified by agreement with the constractors. An Extra $100,000 was now asked for the road work. In the opinion of the engineer the grading operations would cost about that sum instead of $20,000 allowed in Mr. Topp's estimate.

Reeve McGregor was asked by Mr. Clark, who was the candidate for the ward against Councilor Borden in January, what steps the council had taken to ensure the expenditure of the paving money on any specified roads, as the by-law was a blanket measure in which no roads were specified. This should be known in view of the proposal now to include Shelbourne street in place of Cedar Hill road in the paving. The reeve explained that though the roads scheduled were not set out in the by-law, they were covered in the agreement with the Warren Construction company and there could be no deviation from the plan. The reeve dwelt with Mayor Stewart's suggestion, as outlined in yesterday's Times, with regard to using Elk lake supply as a subsidiary one for fire purposes and for irrigation in the municipality, and indicated that the water purchase by-law would give a service from the city mains quite sufficient to meet all the possible growth of the district.

The speakers were thanked, the audience apparently being well satisfied with their answers.

At the meeting to-night at Gordon Head hall Reeve McGregor will be accompanied by Councilors Adams and Borden. It is expected that Councilor Williams, as representative of the ward, will also attend.

JAIL TENDERS WILL BE OPENED MONDAY

Bids Are Principal Matter Before City Council for Next Meeting; Court of Revision

The business before the city council on Monday will be light, but there are several other meetings already scheduled for the coming week.

The most important business before the council meeting will be the opening of tenders for the new jail, the time having been extended till Monday in order that the fullest competition may be obtained. It is understood that the award of the contract will depend upon the nature of the bids. The council has on hand a little over $70,000 of the proceeds of the sale of debentures, and unless the tenders keep well within the margin available, it is expected that the aldermen will be inclined to consider the matter very carefully in view of the great pressure on the general maintenance funds. However, there is always the possibility of a re-vote, as was the case with the Ross Bay seawall and the Sooke waterworks. After the sharp criticism by the Victoria county jury, the construction of a new jail cannot be delayed. The court-room at the city hall is most unsatisfactory for the business transacted there, and as it will take a considerable time to build the new jail, public sentiment is expected to support the aldermen in an immediate award of the contracts. The award would also be welcomed because the other city work, including that on street improvements, is now closing up. The jail tenders are divided into five parts: building construction, sanitary equipment, prison iron work, electric equipment and mechanical and heating equipment.

On Tuesday the Warwick arbitration, the first to take place for a considerable time, will be held. Most of the land purchases have been made by agreement, but in this case the city's offer was declined.

On Thursday there will be a court of revision on local improvements, when several by-laws upon which work has been completed will be cleared up.

Several committees will hold meetings next week. The committee on the curtailment of civic expenditure has to hold a session before making a report. Another meeting is due because no action has yet been taken by the special committee appointed to prepare a list of local improvement works for recommendation to the council of 1915, which report is to be in by October 5. Several applications for consideration next year have been referred to this committee, the intention being to have a street improvement budget prepared so that the necessary financial arrangements may be made as soon as the next council takes office.

As the intention of the committee managing the British Columbia part of the patriotic fund are now known, it is understood that the mayor's relief fund may be established.

RECRUITING IS STOPPED

Men From Klondike and California Make Sacrifices to Come but Are Rejected.

In pursuance of the order issued yesterday the militia regiments have closed their recruiting offices and applicants for enlistment are being rejected.

One man entered the 88th regimental institute this morning and announced that he had arrived in town this morning from the Klondike. He had heard that the regiments could not get enough men and had given up a position earning him $9 a day, seven days a week, in order to come here at once. Another man from Ganges had sold his chicken ranch and was compelled to go back. Three men came from Sacramento, a bookkeeper, a mechanic and a rancher. The rancher had sold his ranch and paid the other two men's transportation in the hopes of being able to join a regiment going on the second Canadian contingent.

The men in camp are feeling very gloomy. With the exception of the Fifth Regiment the local units will gradually have to diminish their active service strength until probably not more than 500 including the whole of the Fifth Regiment will be left under arms.

Training proceeded as usual in the camps this morning. The 50th Regiment spent the greater part of the day at the Clover Point ranges, while the 88th men drilled.

Recruiting of the Royal Canadian regiment will now proceed energetically, as many of those who will be permitted to leave the militia camps will wish to join the permanent force. With the exception of the Victoria company which is not yet recruited, the whole Royal Canadian regiment is now in Bermuda doing garrison duty, while militia companies are performing their duties in Canada. The regulars therefore, it appears, have an excellent opportunity of seeing the world while militia may be called upon to do their duties. This circumstance should lead to the permanent infantry company being recruited fairly rapid-

DESCRIBES VALCARTIER

Officer of 50th Highlanders Sends Interesting Letter to Relatives in Victoria.

From an officer of the 50th Highlanders now at Valcartier a letter has been received by relatives in the city containing some interesting information as to the progress of preparations in the Canadian camp and the disposition of the forces. He says:

"There are 33,000 men here, making five brigades. Col. Currie commands No. 1, and Col. Turner, V. C., D. S. O., commands No. 2, which is us. To each brigade there are four battalions, and to each battalion there are nine companies, that is full war-strength companies of 120 men. So far 20,000 men have been brigaded, and of the remaining 13,000 there are 1,600 officers. The other 11,400 men have not yet been posted, but will form part of the second service contingent. Out of the 1,600 officers only 500 are required for the first contingent. So it seems as if my chances will be small to go as an officer.

"There is nearly a full brigade of Highlanders—one battalion comprises the 50th Highlanders, 72nd Seaforths, 79th Camerons and 91st Argyles. There is another battalion from Toronto, and a third battalion of the Fifth Royal Highlanders of Canada. We are very lucky in having Lieut.-Col. R. E. G. Leckie as our battalion commander, and Col. Turner as our brigadier.

"Valcartier is only a station on the Quebec and St. John railway, 15½ miles directly north of Quebec, and the camp which is probably one of the most wonderful ever built, comprises about 10,000 tents lying in an area of approximately three and one-half square miles on the south side of the Jacques Cartier river. There is a rifle range of all distances up to 1,000 yards with 1,500 targets in a row up against a mountain. The range is seven miles wide."

MONARCH OIL GAINS VALUE THIS MORNING

Fresh Confidence in Calgary Oil Leader on Report to Hand

Victoria, Sept. 12.—This being Saturday, the session of the local stock exchange was a quiet one. There was no let-up in Portland Canal and Glacier Creek support, and only minor quantities of the former were offering for sale. The situation in Glacier Creek was a tight one again, the bid price standing staunch at .03½c, and an entire absence of offerings continuing.

There was an advance in Monarch this morning, buyers renewing their confidence in this concern largely on the strength of the report to hand, which is said to argue a sound and commercial working basis for future operations.

The majority of oil issues still lag, however, much of the speculative excitement having subsided considerably.

POOR DEMAND MAKES WINNIPEG MARKET WEAK

Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—The wheat market was weak generally, caused by poor demand, heavy receipts, heavy offerings and no export trade. Wheat opened unchanged to ⅛c higher, oats unchanged to ⅛c higher, and flax unchanged to ⅛c lower. The decline was gradual from the opening, few attempts being made to stem the decline, which continued to the close, which was 1⅜c to 1½c lower for wheat options and ⅜c to ⅞c lower for oats. There was little or no demand for cash wheat, oats, barley or flax, quite a lull having taken place in this respect. Exporters were also out of the market at the moment. Cash grains closed: Wheat 1⅛c to 2⅛c lower, Oats ⅜c lower and flax 2⅛c lower.

Inspections Friday totalled 1,437 cars as against 424 last year, and in sight were 1,300. The weather conditions have turned unfavorable. At many points in the west rains have occurred, delaying threshing operations.

Can't Garnish Sheriff's Account.—Holding that although the sheriff's own costs and fees were in the trust account in the bank in which he kept all his official funds the account was not a private one, Mr. Justice Gregory has decided that an effort to collect the amount of a seven-year-old judgment against the sheriff by garnishing this account was illegal, and an interpleader issue to decide the point was decided adversely to the judgment creditors Messrs. Williams and Sears.

MARKET BROKE TWO CENTS FROM BEST

Minneapolis Quotation Came Lower; Spring Movement Big

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Final prices for wheat were two cents lower for the active months, December and May; the September quoted ¼ lower. There was fair display of strength in the market during the morning. When Minneapolis had a sharp decline, an hour later prices here dropped back about one cent from the best point. Several spasmodic breaks, but the heaviest period in market for the day came just at the close. Movement of spring wheat to market is greatly increased. The primary run of 15,000,000 for the week is about a record-breaker. Cash business reported at 485,000, largely to exporters, but this failed to influence the late trade.

Firm tone in corn was noted in cash and all futures during the morning. That the market does not hold its advance was largely due to the reaction in wheat the last hour. Regardless of this, December closed strong; May a fraction better. Receivers were reporting lighter country offerings.

Good activity was noted in oats trade both early and late, and prices were higher than Friday. Best advance was recorded first hour. At that hour exporters were all busy and some of them claiming good business ever night. The south was bidding for oats at Illinois points. Market closed with firm tone. Cash houses gave out business amounting to 85,000 and claimed that most of it was to exporters.

BLACK POWDER FIRST SIGN GIVEN AT MONS

British Regiments Were Enjoying Themselves When Germans Attacked Town

ACCURATE ARTILLERY FIRE CAUSED RETREAT

Guns Left Behind Were Put Out of Action by Cool Officer

London, Sept. 12.—A British private wounded in the fight during the retreat from Mons tells the following story of the battle there: "It was Sunday and the British regiments at Mons were merrymaking and enjoying themselves along the streets. Belgian women, returning from church handed the soldiers their prayer books as souvenirs, while Belgian men gave the men cigarettes and tobacco.

"About noon a German aeroplane appeared overhead and began throwing out a cloud of black powder, which is one of their favorite methods of assisting distant batteries to get the range.

"No sooner had the powder cloud appeared than shrapnel began to burst overhead, and in a moment all was confusion. But it did not take the regiments long to get into fighting trim and race through the city to the scene of operations, on the other side of a small canal in the suburbs.

"Here our outposts were engaging the enemy fiercely. The outposts lost heavily, most of the damage being done by shells. The rifle fire was ineffective, although at times the lines of contenders were not more than 300 yards apart.

"The first reinforcements to arrive were posted in a glass factory, the walls of which were loopholed and we doggedly held that position until nightfall, when we fixed bayonets and lay in waiting in case the enemy made an attempt to rush the position in the darkness.

"About midnight orders came to retire over the canal and two companies were left behind to keep the enemy in check temporarily. After the main body had crossed, the bridge was blown up, leaving the two outpost companies to get across as best they could by boats or swimming. Most of them managed to reach the main body again.

"The main body retired from the town and fell back through open country, being kept moving all night. When daylight arrived it was apparent from higher ground that Mons had been practically blown away by the German artillery."

"Throughout the morning we continued to fight at guard action, but the steady march in retiring did not stop until six o'clock in the evening, when the British found themselves well out of range of the German artillery, in a quiet valley where all the troops were ordered to rest and eat. As they had been without food since the previous morning's breakfast it was rather amusing to see the soldiers going to the turnip patches and eating turnips as though they were apples.

"At 8 o'clock all the lights were extinguished, the soldiers were ordered to make no noise and the pickets pushed a long distance backward. Long before dawn the troops were hastily started again and continued the retirement.

"By noon the enemy was again heard from and a large detachmen was assigned the task of fighting to protect our rear.

"During the afternoon both the German and British armies watched a duel in the air between French and German aeroplanes. The Frenchman was very clever and succeeding in manoeuvring to the upper position which he gained after fifteen minutes of reckless effort. Then the Frenchman began blazing away at the German with a revolver. Finally he hit him and the wounded German attempted to glide down into his own lines. The glide, however, ended in the British lines near my detachment, the West Kent Infantry. We found the aviator dead when we reached the machine. We buried his body and burned the aeroplane.

"At dusk a halt was made for food and as the Germans had fallen back, the British spent a quiet night. At dawn, however, we found the Germans close at our heels and several regiments were ordered to prepare entrenchments. This is tedious work, especially in the heat and without proper food. We quickly put up fortifications which were sufficient to protect us somewhat from the artillery fire.

"It was not long before the German gunners found the range and began tearing up those rough fortifications, concentrating their fire on the British battteries, one of which was demolished. Another found itself with only six men. Both these disasters bore testimony to the excellent marksmanship of the German gunners.

"As it became evident that we must leave these guns behind and continue the retreat, an officer was seen going around putting the guns out of action so that they would be of no use to the Germans.

"His action required cool bravery, because the Germans, having found the range continued firing directly at these batteries.

"Things rapidly got hotter and the commanding officer ordered a double quick retreat. We were not long in doing the retiring movement to save our own skins.

"The writer was wounded at this time by a Maxim bullet. For a moment I thought my head had been blown off, but I recovered and kept on running until I reached a trench where I had an opportunity to bandage the wound. I rushed off to the ambulances, but found the doctors so busy with men worse off than I was that I went back to my place in the line."

GERMANS ARE LEAVING ALSATIAN TERRITORY

Belgian Army Forces German Retirement; Austrians Lose Heavily

Milan, Sept. 12, via Paris.—A dispatch to the Corriere Della Sera, from Basel, Switzerland, says that the Germans are evacuating Southern Alsace.

London, Sept. 12.—The Belgian legation announced to-day that the Belgian army had again taken the offensive which was being pushed satisfactorily. An extended sortie was made on September 10 and the Germans everywhere were forced to retire. Malines and Aerschot were retaken.

The Belgian legation stated that Belgians had destroyed the railway between Louvain and Tirlemont, thus cutting off the German communication between Brussels.

Rome, Sept. 12, via London, 6.15 p.m.—The Nish correspondent of the Messagero states that the Austrians lost 500 killed and 5,000 wounded at Mitrokitza, Servia. The Austrians continue to retreat, leaving behind hundreds of pieces of artillery and thousands of prisoners.

Paris, Sept. 12.—A Havas Agency dispatch from Petrograd says yesterday's news of the defeat of the Austrian left wing near Tomaszow is confirmed. The Austrians were surrounded in a triangle formed by the Vistula river and a tributary, San, and the wing was crushed before the arrival of the Germans who came by forced marches to the aid of the Austrians. Inadequate bridges delayed the Germans and made the defeat of their allies inevitable.

The Russians followed up this territory by pursuing the retreating Austrians 20 miles and taking up positions in the fortified localities of Ohole and Touronbine. The Russians suffered heavy casualties in taking Tomaszow.

"The Germans lost heavily when they were repulsed in the vicinity of Myszinec and Chorzele, in Russian Poland, on the frontier of Prussia.

John Dean	500.00
Swinerton & Musgrave	500.00

The officers and executive of the Victoria branch of the fund later convened and discussed arrangements in connection with a canvassing campaign, which it is hoped will be liberally supported by citizens. Donations should be sent to Mr. Swinerton at the offices of Swinerton & Musgrave, Fort street.

The object of the fund is outlined in the copy of the act passed on August 22, 1914, which appears in another column. There will be a further meeting of the executive on Monday afternoon at the office of the president, A. C. Flumerfelt, when a thorough organization of the various committees will take place.

ALLEGE ALBERNI HAS NO ASSESSMENT ROLL

Council Increased Tax Rate When County Judge Reduced Assessments

Unusual proceedings by the municipal authorities of the city of Alberni have led to the launching of an action by certain ratepayers for a declaration that no assessment roll for 1914 has been completed by the city, and that all proceedings purporting to be towards that end are nullities. James R. Motion and Stewart M. Read & Co., both large property owners in the city, are the plaintiffs, and the city corporation is the defendant.

The proceedings which led to the commencement of the action are said by H. A. Maclean, K. C., solicitor for the plaintiffs, to have been somewhat as follows:

The plaintiffs successfully appealed to the county judge against the assessment of their property and obtained a considerable reduction. The council then held a second court of equalization and made a general reduction of assessments on a scale equal to that made by the county judge in the case of these individuals. An increase in the tax rate was made at the same time so that everybody had the same taxes to pay, and the plaintiffs were left in exactly the same position in relation to the rest of the municipality. The proceedings subsequent to the decision of the county judge are claimed by the plaintiffs' solicitor to be wholly illegal, and such as to invalidate all proceedings of the municipality towards completing an assessment roll for this year.

The claim as stated on the writ is as follows:

"The plaintiffs' claim is against the defendant for a declaration that no assessment roll has been completed in the municipality for or during the year of 1914; that all purported acts and proceedings done and had by the municipal council and by any officers and servants thereof and by the court of revision and equalization in purported completion of an assessment roll for the year 1914 were and are nullities; that all lands of the plaintiffs in the city were and are free from all levies, taxes and assessments whatsoever for and during 1914; and for an injunction and for such other protection as on the trial may be found necessary to protect the plaintiffs from any unlawful or invalid assessment."

BISHOP OF TORONTO VISITING VICTORIA

The Rt. Rev. J. F. Sweeney Tells of Work on Great New Cathedral

A distinguished clerical visitor who arrived in Victoria this week is the Rt. Rev. James Fielding Sweeney, Bishop of Toronto, who during his stay here is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Agnew, of 1322 Rockland avenue.

When questioned this morning by a Times reporter as to the progress being made with the building of the great new cathedral at Toronto, the eminent visitor confessed that this subject was one of his pet weaknesses. The foundations of the contemplated handsome edifice, which it was hoped would some day see completion, had been laid by the third Bishop of Toronto, in whose time the building of the choir had been completed. But for more than twenty-eight years the cathedral had remained practically at a standstill. When, about six years ago, he became Bishop of Toronto one of the first things he had done was to try to push forward the work.

On August 12, 1912, H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught had laid the cornerstone of the extensive work, since which time the work had been progressing splendidly, and the foundations were now all in place and the walls completed up to a height of 13 feet all round. A concrete floor had been placed in position, and the baptistry had also been completed at a cost of $72,000.

The whole edifice when complete was to cost $400,000, and would be the largest Anglican church in the whole Dominion, with a length of 285 feet, a width of 131 feet in the broadest portion of the transepts, and seating accommodation for 3,000 people. The height of the tower was only 8 feet short of the famous tower at Canterbury, and the dimensions were practically the same as those of the Cathedral of Hereford.

The war, of course, might be expected somewhat to delay contributions, great assistance from which was expected at the seventy-fifth anniversary celebrations in connection with the foundation of the diocese of Toronto which were to have taken place in November. But plans had been made without consideration of the possibility of such significant events as the present.

"But it is bound to have far-reaching results in checking the mad pursuit of Mammon," added his lordship in a brief reference to the gigantic European struggle. "Society must assume a more sober aspect, a more serious contemplation of other than material things."

Twenty-five years have elapsed since the bishop last visited Victoria, and the enormous changes in the city during that period were immediately noticed by him on his arrival here. His own diocese of Toronto, it is almost unnecessary to state, is one of the largest in the Dominion, having ten thousand square miles in area, and having a staff of 250 clergy. In Toronto there are 52 Anglican churches.

The bishop will preach to-morrow morning at St. Mary's, Oak Bay, and in the evening at Christ Church cathedral.

Liquor License By-law.—At the city council meeting on Monday a liquor license by-law will be introduced. It is to bring the civic legislation into harmony with provincial statutes and will require applications to be made to the board of license commissioners for bartenders' licenses and renewals of licenses. There is also a by-law to set up an examination for moving picture operators and apprentices to be introduced.

"A Most Valuable Food"

At a time when the preparation of artificial foodstuffs is receiving more attention than ever before, and when new forms of easily assimilable fat to take the place of codliver oil are being frequently brought to the notice of the medical profession, it is desirable that some of the older forms of administering natural fats should not be lost sight of. Among natural fats, butter easily takes first place for nutritive value, and when combined with a suitable soluble carbohydrate, a most valuable food is produced.

The BUTTER SCOTCH which Messrs. Callard & Bowser (Duke's Road, Euston Road, W. C.) have prepared for fifty years is such an article, which has the great advantage of being palatable, so palatable in fact, that children are more likely to need restraining from excess than any persuading to take it. This BUTTER SCOTCH is stated to contain 11.7 per cent. of fat and 79.3 per cent. of sugar, and the results of an analysis which we have made recently of a specimen substantially confirm these figures; further chemical examination of the fat extracted showed it to be genuine butter fat. This confection can therefore be recommended, not only as a harmless sweetmeat, but also as a very useful addition to the diet in suitable cases.

CLOSING BY-LAW IS EFFECTIVE MONDAY

New Measure Comes Into Force at Beginning of Next Week

Monday will bring into operation the new early closing by-law in the city, a measure adopted after months of discussion during which many problems were encountered and difficulties overcome as the by-law gradually took shape.

It may be regarded as a compromise measure which will make universal in the city, except to those trades exempted under provincial law, and to confectioners and souvenir stores which the council added provisions which were formerly designed to affect only four individual trades in this city but which of late years have been honored more in the breach than in the observance. The principle of general application will now be upheld. Suburban grocers who have found it to their business advantage to keep open later than the downtown stores, sometimes up to midnight, are still lodging protests against the six o'clock closing on the ground that they do not employ assistants and therefore employees do not suffer by their acts.

An examination shows that the new measure will involve small change in most places of business from the rules which have prevailed up to the present. The hours of closing undergo no radical alteration.

The principal clause says: "From and after the fourtenth day of September, 1914, in each and every year, all classes of shops, except fruit shops, drug stores, confectioneries, souvenir stores and dairies, within the city of Victoria, and each of them, shall be closed and remain closed on every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday (not being a statutory holiday) of every week at the hour of 6 o'clock of the afternoon and on every Saturday (not being a statutory legal holiday) of every week at the hour of 9.30 o'clock of the afternoon, and continuously after such respective times until midnight of every such day, provided, however, that on any of such days, viz.: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday as aforsaid, if such day immediately precedes a statutory legal holiday, and on every day (not being Sunday or a statutory legal holiday) between the 15th and 31st days of December inclusive, the hour of closing shall be 9.30 o'clock in the afternoon instead of 6 o'clock in the afternoon."

REASONS WHICH GAIN CONVENTION FOR CITY

Municipal Journal States Why Union of Municipalities Accepted Victoria's Invitation

Regarding the invitation which Victoria extended to the Union of Canadian Municipalities to hold its next annual convention here, the Canadian Municipal Journal says:

"The invitation of the city of Victoria that the Union of Canadian Municipalities should hold its convention next year in Canada's far western city was accepted by the delegates meeting at Sherbrooke for two reasons. First, it would give an opportunity to eastern delegates to study the problems of municipal government on the Pacific coast, and in the words of Alderman McNeill, who brought the invitation, the city of Victoria would have the personal benefit of the co-operation of able men from other parts who are trying to solve like problems to those they have in the district which includes Vancouver, New Westminster and other important places. Secondly, the fair city of Victoria would be a stopping place for the hundreds of municipal men who intend to visit the Panama-Pacific exposition, that is assuming the war is over. But a third reason, even more important than the other two, as to why the union decided to adopt the invitation of Victoria, is best given in the words of ex-Alderman Herbert Cuthbert who in a letter to the convention supported, on behalf of the public bodies of the city, the invitation by Alderman McNeill. He urged that 'in journeying to our city the delegates have an opportunity of passing through many other municipalities between their home city and the place of meeting. There is no greater opportunity of securing information upon municipal matters than this.'

"It would seem then that in next year's convention the members of the union are invited to attain a threefold object in traveling from their respective cities and towns to the place of meeting. Experience has shown from similar previous conventions the great educational value of the journey which will bring so many members in touch with one another and give so many characteristics to study on the spot of the different types which make up Canadian citizenship. And the rendezvous itself is alone worth the journey, not only for the beauties of the place, but to analyze the city of Victoria's system of taxation which is really one of the best in the world."

TO CURE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c. worth. Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of moist or granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose promptly ends the most distressing head noises, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucous dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh; therefore, there are but few people whose hearing cannot be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.

IMPORTANT.—In ordering Parmint always specify that you want Double Strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send 75c. to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine street, Montreal, P. Q., who make a specialty of it.

JURY EXONERATES DRIVER OF MOTOR

Finds Death of F. Houchen Following Collision to Have Been Purely Accidental

The verdict of the coroner's jury on the death of Frederick Houchen, of Rocky Point, Metchosin, completely exonerated Arthur Taddie, the driver of the motor which struck the wagon in which the deceased was sitting, from all blame in the fatality, which in the jurors' opinion was a pure accident. The jury took but a few seconds to come to its verdict, which was "accidental death," and concluded that there was nothing to show that Arthur Taddie, driver of the motor, had been negligent.

The evidence taken was all corroborative on the point of the speed of the vehicle. It was clearly shown that the impact of the motor car with the back of the rig was very slight, as absolutely no damage was done to the rig, and that the speed of the car at the time of the impact was less than two miles an hour. Similarly witnesses stated that the rig pulled up suddenly, causing the driver of the motor to shut down both his foot brake and emergency brake. The actual collision was caused by the motor skidding on the greasy surface of the road.

It was further shown that the deceased fell from the rig long after the car had struck it; that is to say, after the horse had run away over the Point Ellice bridge the deceased was unable to keep his seat and fell out on to the roadway, receiving the injuries which a few hours later resulted in his death.

Dr. G. A. B. Hall, medical health officer, to whose department Mr. Houchen was taken immediately after the accident, related that he found the man's condition so serious that he ordered his removal to the Royal Jubilee hospital. Hemorrhage of the brain had set in, and the usual treatment followed in such cases had been given, but the man died early the next morning.

Arthur Thompson, who employed the deceased, and who was beside him on the rig when the fatal accident occurred, detailed the circumstances which led up to the fatality. Mr. Houchen had been driving and had reached the bottom of the incline when a motor car coming to the city pumped into the rig from behind. Thompson had been looking right ahead and so did not see the motor car coming and could not judge at what speed it was traveling when it struck the rig. When it happened, however, the horse bolted eastward across the bridge, and Thompson, being the stronger man, took the reins from Houchen. When the vehicle had reached the points of the car tracks at the eastern end of the bridge Mr. Houchen was thrown out on the pavement. The rig went on a little further when it overturned, throwing out Mr. Thompson.

Arthur Taddie gave a clear concise statement as to the manner in which the accident had happened. He was 20 years of age and had driven a car only three week. He was coming down the incline less than two miles an hour, and seeing the wagon ahead of him blew his horn. The wagon stopped suddenly and he put on his brakes. The motor skidded before it came to a full stop and bumped into the rear of the rig. He immediately shut off his engine. The horse then bolted clean across the bridge, and later he cranked up his machine and went up to where Mr. Houchen was lying on the ground.

Corroborative evidence was given by George Potts, a passenger in the rear seat of the motor, and by Lawrence E. Hender.

The jury was composed of W. J. Scott (foreman), A. E. Hardy, J. H. Jelleigh, A. Asseler, Charles T. Thomas and George E. Mallory.

J. S. Brandon watched the proceedings on behalf of Arthur Taddie.

Wilfrid was sitting on his father's knee watching his mother arrange her hair. "Papa hasn't waves like that," said the father, laughing. Wilfrid, looking up at his father's bald pate, replied—"No, no waves; it's all beach."
